LOOK OUT FOR FIRE!

To Theater Owners, Managers and Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I have equipped the Windsor theater in this city with the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engines. After examining all other systems of fire protection, and after repeated tests of the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engine, and upon the recommendation of the insurance underwriters, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest and most powerful, as well as perfect, fire protection for theaters ever invented. In my opinion every theater and opera house in the United States, as well as Europe, should be equipped with these chemical fire engines, and thus save the loss of life and thousands of dollars in property.

Respectfully,

(Signed) H. J. GOLDY,

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I, George A. Burbank, witnessed the exhibition of the Lindgren chemical engine test to-day, and as I have witnessed a great many such chemical tests in New York City, Boston, Mass., and other large cities in the East, I hereby state that it was the quickest and most satisfactory test, and was also pronounced so by two of our councilmen and all the citizens present, and I will also state that the time of applying the chemical was left entirely to me and I did not give the word until the fire was well started, for in other tests I have witnessed they have always put the chemical on the minute the fire was started and water would answer just as well, as there was nothing but the flame started and the wood not charred, and I take great pleasure in recommending the "Lindgren" as far superior to any other "Chemical" engine on the market.

LAYMEN'S CONGRESS.

Proceedings of the Catholic Convention at Baltimore.

A COMMITTEE CALLS ON HARRISON

A Number of Carefully Prepared Papers Read.

TEXT OF THE PLATFORM ADOPTED

A Lengthy Document, Which Contains Much Food for Reflection and Makes Not a Few Impracticable Demands.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—A session of the congress of Catholic laymen was held to-day with all the enthusiasm and crush of spectators that characterized the opening meeting.

Hon. Honore Mercier, minister of Quebec, made an address in many respects one of the most rousing thus far heard.

His reference to the "recently repaired despoilments of the Jesuits by the same George the third who despoiled the American Revolutionary fathers of their liberties and rights," was cheered again and again. "The restitution act by the Canadian government," he said, "will long stand an honorable act before mankind. As to the status of Catholics, whether in Canada or the United States, the world should know that loyalty to God means loyalty to the state." [Cheers]. To the American Poet Longfellow and to his pathetic allusions to Catholics and Canadians, Mercier paid a tribute of noble eloquence, concluding with a quotation from the poet's "Ship of State," which the premier so used as to imply that it expressed the feelings of Quebec to the American union. [Wild applause].

Delegate Fuglu, of New York, offered a resolution, which was adopted with a rush, tendering, on behalf of the congress, the most cordial greetings to the people of Canada and acknowledging their warm sentiments of regard as expressed by Premier Mercier.

Monsignor Gadd, of England, the special representative of Cardinal Manning, briefly congratulated the congress on its success, and following him came a long paper on "Philanthropy," by Peter Foy, of St. Louis. Edmund L. Dunne, of Florida, treated extemporaneously the subject, "The Right of the State on Education." The following papers were also read: "Religion and Education," by William T. Kelly, of St. Paul; "Societies," by H. J. Spaulhorst, of St. Louis; "Catholic American Literature," by C. B. Pallvin, of St. Louis; "Sunday Observance," by M. B. Tello, of Cleveland; "Labor and Capital," by William Richards, of Washington.

After recess the committee appointed to wait upon President Harrison at Washington and invite him to be present, reported that they had been received cordially and handsomely by the chief magistrate. [Cheers.] President Harrison had said that if it were not for the fact that he is preparing a message he would accept the invitation gladly, and in any event he would be with the delegates in Washington to-morrow at the dedication of the new universe.

The report was enthusiastically received. The obligations of the congress to the president and the committee expressed by more cheering and a rising vote.

The reading of papers was then resumed. George B. Wolff, of Philadelphia, read a paper on the "Catholic Press."

Judge Frank McGlinn, of Louisiana, and Milton E. Smith, of Washington, discussed Wolff's paper.

THE PLATFORM.

To-night the net result of the proceedings of the first congress of Catholic layman of the United States was made manifest in the platform adopted with enthusiastic unanimity. The platform rejoices at the marvelous development of the century and regards with just pride the part taken by Catholics therein. In the words of a pastoral issued by the archbishop and bishops in the third plenary council:

"We claim to be acquainted with the laws, institutions and spirit of the Catholic church, and with the laws, institutions and spirit of our country, and we emphatically declare there is no antagonism between them.

We repudiate with equal earnestness the assertion that we need lay aside any of our fervidness to the church to be true Americans, and the insinuation that we need abate any of our love for our country's principles and institutions to be faithful Catholics.

We cannot, however, shut our eyes to the many dangers that threaten the destruction of the social fabric upon which depend our peace, liberty and true institutions. A though our wealth has increased and prosperity abounds, we find under the shadow of this very wealth pauperism, discontented men, men and children without the benefits of education, with it the advantages of religion, deprived of any share in the abundance or participation in the blessings which, through our free institutions, God Almighty has designed for the people of our land.

We recognize the importance of religious education, and, as in the state schools no provision is made for teaching religion, we must continue to support our own schools, colleges and universities and multiply and perfect others, so that the benefit of a Christian education may be brought within the reach of every Catholic child.

We also recognize among the these great educational agencies, besides the church and schools, the Christian's home. Whatever imperils its permanency, security and peace is a blow not only at the individual, but is an attempt to subvert civil society and Christian civilization. Therefore we denounce the existence and development of Mormonism and the tendency to multiply causes of divorce as plague spots on our civilization, a discredit to our government, the degradation of the female sex, and as standing menace to the sanctity of the marriage bond.

We hold it is not sufficient for Catholics to shun bad or dangerous societies, but they ought to take part in good and useful ones. The plan and form of St. Vincent De Paul society are commended, but as it is impossible to enumerate all the societies whose labors have done much to succor the poor and alleviate human misery, it must be left to individual act on to select fields in which to work.

Another danger which menaces our republic is the conflict between capital and labor. We view with regret and alarm any antagonism between them, because thereby society itself is imperiled with the church. We condemn nihilism, socialism and communism, and we equally condemn the heartless greed of capital. The remedy must be sought in the mediation of the church, through her action on individual conscience, and thereby on society and in such civil enactments as have been rendered necessary by altered conditions. The employment of young minors, either male or female, is disapproved.

The platform favors Catholics taking greater part than heretofore in general philanthropic and reformatory movements. By mingling more in such works of national virtue as non-Catholic citizens are engaged in, and taking their proper share in the management of prisons and hospitals, we might exert a Catholic influence outside of our own body at the same time we are solacing the unfortunate and reforming the erring. We should be able to insist on Catholic inmates being freely ministered to by their own clergy, and we must assert and secure the right of conscience of Catholics in all institutions under public control.

There are many Christian fames in which Catholics could come together with non-Catholics and shape civil legislation for the public good. In spite of rebuff and injustice and overlooking jealotry, we should seek, with non-Catholics for the proper observance of the laws. To effect this we must set our faces sternly against the sale of intoxicating beverages on Sunday; the corrupting influence of saloons in politics, and the crime and pauperism resulting from excessive drinking, require legislative restriction, which we can aid in procuring by joining our influence with that of other enemies of intemperance. We favor the passage and enforcement of laws rigidly closing saloons on Sunday and forbidding the sale of liquor to minors and intoxicated persons.

The platform pledges co-operation with the clergy in discussing those great common educational and social questions, which affect the interest and well being of church, country and society at large.

A protest is made against any change in the education of Indians by which they would be deprived of Christian teaching. Any assistance to the clergy is pledged in all ways tending to allieve any improvement, physical or moral, in the condition of the negro.

The platform recommends Catholics to subscribe more generally for Catholic publications; looks with eagerness for the establishment of daily Catholic newspapers in the large cities, and a Catholic Associated Press agency; recommends the work of Catholic circulating libraries and reading circles, and the efforts to have the best Catholic books and periodicals introduced into public libraries as fast as practicable.

We hope for the introduction of proper church music in all our churches where other music is now heard. Music should help devotion at divine service, and not be such as tends to divert the mind from heavenly thoughts. Efforts should be made to have the congregation join in the singing.

The platform concludes: "We cannot conclude without recording our solemn conviction that the absolute freedom of the holy see is equally indispensible to the peace of the church and the welfare of mankind. We demand, in the name of humanity and justice, that this freedom be scrupulously respected by all secular governments. We protest against the assumption by any government of a right to affect the interests or control the act of our holy father by any form of legislation or other public act to which his full approbation has not been previously given, and we pledge to Leo XIII, our worthy pontiff, to whose hands Almighty God has committed the helm of Peters' bark amid the tempests of this stormy age, the loyal sympathy and unstinted aid of all his spiritual children in vindicating the perfect liberty which he justly claims as his sacred and inalienable right."

A RECEPTION FOR TO-MORROW.

The mayor of Baltimore with words of welcome, then tendered the delegates a reception for Thursday at the city hall. The tender was accepted.

Professor Herman Allen of Chicago, read a paper on "Church Music," advocating the Gregorian and the exclusion of all figured music that did not conform to the plain chant prototype.

J. H. Campbell, of Philadelphia, discussed temperance. He said no other subject, except that of education affects so vitally the present and future welfare of the Catholics of the United States. Regarding prohibition, he said it was the logical outcome of a mistaken idea of paternal government, which is contrary to the spirit of American institutions.

Owing to the late hour and the desire of the delegates to witness the torchlight procession, the further reading of papers was suspended, with orders that the remaining ones be printed in the proceedings.

Daniel Dougherty was unanimously voted a place on the committee of future congresses.

Onahan, of Chicago, moved that an international Catholic congress be held, not later than 1892, in Chicago.

Campbell, of Philadelphia, moved an amendment, that the convention be held wherever the world's fair is located. [Applause.]

Onahan seconded the amendment because he believed the world's fair would be held in Chicago.

Spaundurst of St. Louis expressed his satisfaction with the amendment because he thought it would bring the convention to St. Louis.

The resolution, as amended, was adopted.

It was resolved by the congress that a unanimous vote of thanks be tendered the committee on preliminary arrangements for their unselfish and untiring efforts in convening and organizing the congress.

As Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, had opened the congress, it was desired that he close it. He said, with fiery emphasis: "Go to your homes filled with the enthusiasm of this convention, and spread it through the Union, that this is a new departure for Catholics, this country a mission for Catholic laymen. The day has come, thank God, when all Catholics will rise up and say 'We are worthy of our religion.' The country to be conquered is heaven. Do not go home to sleep, but to work. Go back true Catholics."

Adjourned sine die.

CATHOLICISM AND SECRET SOCIETIES.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—The Sun to-morrow will say: Probably the most radical thing that transpired through the assembling of the first Catholic congress in regard to secret societies. The Catholic church has long been regarded as the implacable enemy of every secret society without its own pale, and it now appears the ban of the church is to be lifted absolutely from every sort of secret organization, except the Masonic order. That the objections to the Masonic brotherhood will also be raised is confidently expected by those in the secret, and it is said to be only a matter of twelve months or so before any man may openly avow himself a member of the Ancient Order of Free and Accepted Masons, as well as a faithful member of the Catholic church.

WAITED ON THE PRESIDENT.

A Committee From the Catholic Congress Present an Address to Mr. Harrison.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—A committee from the Catholic congress in session in Baltimore waited on the president this morning, by appointment, and presented him with an address. The president received them cordially and listened carefully to the reading of the address.

The latter says: "Representing in a measure 10,000,000 of our fellow citizens who share in the blessings and privileges of this government and are devoted to its constitution and laws, the congress desires to voice and emphasize the loyalty and fidelity of the Catholic people of the United States to the republic and its institutions, as well as their respect for the chief magistrate of the nation.

"On the centennial of the establishment of the Episcopal authority in these United States, the Catholics of America in their first congress assembled, while rejoicing in the marvelous growth of their faith on this soil, and returning grateful thanks to God therefor, feel the occasion eminently fitting to voice also their heartfelt rejoicing over the prosperity and solidity of our civil institutions, our development of religious liberty and tolerance, and the material progress and prosperity of our country, and through you to express to our fellow citizens of this great republic a spirit of unity and brotherly love. We desire, while pursuing the dictates of our consciences in serving God, to march hand in hand with the promotion of the best interests of our common country, and the welfare of society.

"The congress bids this committee, while conveying to you the expressions of its respect, to say that it would be a gratifying pleasure to have the honor of welcoming you to its session in Baltimore."

In reply, the president said that he appreciated the compliment paid him by the visit, as well as the truth of the sentiments expressed in the address in regard to the fidelity of the Catholics of the United States to the constitution and laws of the country. He regretted that his official duties would prevent his attending the sessions of the congress, but he should be could proudly there he would be present at the opening of the Catholic university near this city to-morrow.

The committee returned to Baltimore in the afternoon well pleased with their visit.

THE SPEAKERSHIP CONTEST.

Reed in the Lead and McKinley's Chances Not Very Good—A Dark Horse May Win.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The general opinion among politicians here is that the result of the election in Ohio last week has undoubtedly injured Major McKinley's speakership canvass, and there are those who predict that it may lead him to withdraw from the race. Some of his friends, however, say that it will do him good; that it emphasizes Ohio as a doubtful state, and that since his district is to be gerrymandered he ought to be speaker, so as to help himself to a re-election. It will be remembered that Reed was given a complimentary minority vote for the speakership in the forty-eighth congress, upon his own request, for the purpose of assisting him before his constituency. There is no question but that Reed is in the lead for the speakership. It is now with him simply a question of whether there will be more members who will give him complimentary votes on the first ballot than will come to him as second choice after the first ballot. The opinion is about equally divided. Many contend that he cannot be elected, unless he has over sixty-five votes from the start and shows a good gain on the second ballot. There is talk of all the other candidates having a conference, with a view, since it is the field against Reed, of a consolidation. Cannon appears likely to be winner, as he is gaining steadily.

THE PUGET SOUND NAVY YARD.

Commodore White Criticises the Report of the Commissioners.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—It is not certain that the site selected for a navy yard on Puget sound will be finally agreed to. It leaked out to-day that Secretary Tracy has referred the report of the commissioners to Commodore White, chief of yards and docks, for his opinion thereon, and that the latter gave it, and severely commented on the report. Just how far he criticises the site selected is not known, as the commodore will not talk, and Tracy is in the same humor, nor is it known whether White recommended the non-selection of the site. But from another source it was learned that Secretary Tracy will probably recommend that no new navy yard be established on the Pacific coast, but that the Mare Island yard be increased to meet any emergency and be the only yard on the coast. This latter report, however, cannot be verified, although it bears a tinge of possibility.

OLYMPIA LAWMAKERS.

The House Refuses to Adjourn Until Monday.

A SLIGHT MISUNDERSTANDING

Concurrent Action Will Probably Be Taken To-day.

TURNER CONFIDENT OF ELECTION

Harmony Does Not Prevail in the Spokane Delegation—The Lieutenant Governor Assumes His Duties—Yesterday's Proceedings.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 12.—Olympia to-day celebrated the admission of Washington by a salute of forty-two guns, fired from Capitol hill, near the state house. The day was bright and cool. A sea-breeze blew all night and scattered the overhanging clouds, and this morning's sun shone in all its splendor. It was a perfect day.

Both houses assembled at 1 P. M. and spent almost the entire afternoon in a wrangle as to the time to which they should adjourn. The senate passed a concurrent resolution, proposing a recess until Tuesday next, at 12:30 P. M., but the house refused to concur. If the house members who favored taking a recess had had any definite knowledge of parliamentary tactics they could have carried the day by moving to concur when the resolution was presented. As it was, they sat still in their seats and allowed the opposition to move to suspend the rules and pass the resolution to the second reading. That required a two-thirds vote, which could not be mustered. After the proposition had been defeated, Speaker Feigtan saw that the motion to concur would be in order, but before anybody could make one Geoghegan's motion to adjourn prevailed. Although neither house can accomplish much by remaining in session, the week could be spent very profitably in arranging the details and getting the machinery in motion for the vast amount of legislation that will claim attention. Bills should be introduced. There are no committees to which to refer them; still, they could be laid on the table to be taken up when the proper time arrives. The senate is averse to transacting any business until Governor Ferry is inaugurated, but the house seems inclined to stay in session.

Stevenson's house joint resolution to take a recess until Tuesday next brought about a clash between the opposing forces. An amendment was offered to make the day and hour Monday at 1 P. M.

Shaw was the first to raise his voice against taking recesses so early in the session, because he thought it a bad policy. He thought a great deal of time could be saved in arranging the preliminaries at once.

Geoghegan, Pickrell and Clark backed up what Shaw had said. Geoghegan said that a recess would not be doing justice to the public, and that as a political move it would not be wise.

Herren put an end to the discussion by moving to lay the motion and the amendment on the table, which was carried by a standing vote of 46 to 24.

Seventeen members then asked leave of absence until Tuesday. Browne demurred to this wholesale proceeding, but the house, by a vote of 44 to 25, excused the 17.

The senate concurrent resolution failed to get a two-thirds vote to pass it to the second reading, and the house adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow. The senate was badly puzzled by the refusal of the house to concur in its resolution. It also adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow.

Lieutenant-Governor Laughton was the first of the state officers elect to take his office. When the senate met this afternoon the oath of office was read to him, and he immediately took his seat as president of that body. He addressed the senate as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Senate:—As your constitutional presiding officer, it becomes my pleasurable duty at this hour to call to order the first senate of the state of Washington. The convening and action of this legislature are fraught with the deepest import to the people of a territory who have patiently awaited deferred statehood in its magnificent fruition, significance and privileges. Your constituents wait with anxious solicitude such wise and liberal enactments as may be necessary to develop, foster, encourage and protect the varied and marvelous resources with which we are so abundantly blessed. They look for ample and thoughtful legislation in the formulation of such a code of laws as will insure harmony between, and encouragement to, both labor and capital, and which will be applicable to the changing needs and conditions of our growing commerce, our diversified manufactures with their collateral interests, and the rapidly increasing population of this young and vigorous commonwealth. I am sure that kindly forbearance and ample courtesy will govern our official intercourse, and with the expression of this belief the chair announces that the senate of Washington is now ready to proceed to business.

The mooted question as to when the ballot will be taken for United States senators has been effectually disposed of. In the afternoon in the house, Grant, of King, offered a joint resolution, fixing the day and time next Tuesday at 1 P. M., when the ballot will be taken in the separate houses. If there is no election then both houses will meet in joint assembly at noon on the following day. The senate concurred in the resolution. The sooner the senators are elected the better it will be for Washington. As long as the question hangs fire, it will claim the attention of all the members, to the detriment of other and important business.

Next Monday will be a great day in Olympia. On that day the last vestige of territorial government will disappear in the constitutional expiration of Governor Moore's term. Governor-elect Ferry will be inaugurated at noon. Five companies of National Guardsmen will participate in the ceremonies, and an inauguration ball will be given. The senate and house to-day appointed committees to make all the arrangements. The senate committee consists of Owings, Van Houten, Wood, Long and Farris, and the house committee of Herren, Megler, Eddy, Kuhn and Gilchrist.

At the monthly meeting of the board of trade to-night, S. C. Woodruff was appointed to act with the house and senate committees to make the arrangements for the inauguration ball and ceremonies.

Representative J. E. Gandy, of Spokane Falls, answered to his name for the first time to-day. He had been suffering from heart trouble at Tacoma, and did not arrive until last night.

In the house this afternoon, Browne, of Spokane, presented a resolution notifying the governor of Washington that the house was ready for business.

"Which governor?" asked Speaker Feigban.

"The governor of the state," retorted Browne.

"The constitution plainly provides that the territorial officers shall hold office until the state officers take their places. Governor Moore is therefore, governor of Washington now."

The resolution was laid on the table until next Monday.

Judson, of Pierce, is one of the best parliamentarians in the house. He was asked to-day what would be the policy of the democratic members in the house, who number eight, just enough to turn the tide of a close vote.

"The democrats will pursue an economic and conservative policy," he answered. "If there is any vicious legislation, we will raise our voices against it. "I think there is nothing to fear on this score, for the house seems to be a conservative body."

The present session will be the longest and the most expensive that Washington will ever have. It is unlimited as to time, and will last between four and six months, and the estimated cost of the sitting will be between $70,000 and $150,000. The constitution limits all succeeding sessions to sixty days. The republicans recognize the responsibility that rests upon their shoulders and seem determined to give the people legislation that will be in proportion to so large an expenditure.

The Spokane delegation are in hot water. Since the withdrawal of Hyde there has been nothing like unanimity among the delegation on the senatorial question. The delegation was nominated in county convention as a Hyde delegation. Turner was given no sort of a show in this home convention, and the delegation was considered to be Hyde and nothing else. The Hyde people endeavored to exact a pledge from Grubbs, who was known to be an Allen man, to

LOOK OUT FOR FIRE!

To Theater Owners, Managers and Whom it May Concern:

This is to certify that I have equipped the Windsor theater in this city with the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engines. After examining all other systems of fire protection, and after repeated tests of the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engine, and by the recommendation of the insurance underwriters, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest and most powerful, as well as perfect, fire protection for theaters ever invented. In my opinion every theater and opera house in the United States, as well as Europe, should be equipped with these chemical fire engines, and thus save the loss of life and thousands of dollars in property.

Respectfully,

To Whom it May Concern:

This is to certify that I, George A. Burbank, witnessed the exhibition of the Lindgren chemical engines test to-day, and as I have witnessed a great many such chemical tests in New York City, Boston, Mass., and other large cities in the East, I hereby state that it was the quickest and most satisfactory test, and was also pronounced so by two of our councilmen and all the citizens present, and I will also state that the time of applying the chemical was left entirely to me and I did not give the word until the fire was well started, for in other tests I have witnessed they have always put the chemical on the minute the fire was started and water would answer just as well, as there was nothing but the flame started and the wood not charred, and I take great pleasure in recommending the Lindgren as far superior to any other "Chemical" engine on the market.

LAYMEN'S CONGRESS.

Proceedings of the Catholic Convention at Baltimore.

A COMMITTEE CALLS ON HARRISON

A Number of Carefully Prepared Papers Read.

TEXT OF THE PLATFORM ADOPTED

A Lengthy Document, Which Contains Much Food for Reflection and Makes Not a Few Impracticable Demands.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—A session of the congress of Catholic laymen was held to-day with all the enthusiasm and crush of spectators that characterized the opening meeting.

Hon. Honore Mercier, minister of Quebec, made an address in many respects one of the most rousing thus far heard.

His reference to the "recently repaired despoilments of the Jesuits by the same George the third who despoiled the American Revolutionary fathers of their liberties and rights," was cheered again and again. "The resolution act by the Canadian government" he said, "will long stand an honorable act before mankind. As to the status of Catholics, whether in Canada or the United States, the world should know that loyalty to God means loyalty to the state." [Cheers]. To the American Poet Longfellow and to his pathetic allusions to Catholics and Canadians, Mercier paid a tribute of noble eloquence, concluding with a quotation from the poet's "Ship of State," which the premier so used as to imply that it expressed the feelings of Quebec to the American union. [Wild applause].

Delegate Fagin, of New York, offered a resolution, which was adopted with a rush, tendering, on behalf of the congress, the most cordial greetings to the people of Canada and acknowledging their warm sentiments of regard as expressed by Premier Mercier.

Monsignor Gadd, of England, the special representative of Cardinal Manning, briefly congratulated the congress on its success, and following him came a long paper on "Philanthropy," by Peter Foy, of St. Louis. Edmund L. Dunne, of Florida, treated extemporaneously the subject, "The Right of the State in Education." The following papers were also read: "Religion and Education," by William T. Kelly, of St. Paul; "Societies," by H. J. Spaunhorst, of St. Louis; "Catholic American Literature," by C. H. Pallvin, of St. Louis; "Sunday Observance," by M. B. Tello, of Cleveland; "Labor and Capital," by William Richards, of Washington.

After recess the committee appointed to wait upon President Harrison at Washington and invite him to be present, reported that they had been received cordially and handsomely by the chief magistrate. [Cheers.] President Harrison had said that if it were not for the fact that he is preparing a message he would accept the invitation gladly, and in any event he would be with the delegates in Washington to-morrow at the dedication of the new university.

The report was enthusiastically received. The obligations of the congress to the president, and the committee expressed by more cheering and a rising vote.

The reading of papers was then resumed. George D. Wolff, of Philadelphia, read a paper on the "Catholic Press."

Judge Frank McGinnis, of Louisiana, and Milton E. Smith, of Washington, discussed Wolff's paper.

THE PLATFORM.

To-night the net result of the proceedings of the first congress of Catholic laymen of the United States was made man fast in the platform adopted with enthusiastic unanimity. The platform rejoices at the marvelous development of the century and regards with just pride its part taken by Catholics therein. In he words of a pastoral issued by the archbishop and bishops in the third plenary council:

"We claim to be acquainted with the laws, institutions and spirit of the Catholic church, and with the laws, institutions and spirit of our country, and we emphatically declare there is no antagonism between them.

We repudiate with equal earnestness the assertion that we need ay aside any of our devotedness to the church it be true Americans, and the impression that we need abate any of our love for our country's principles and institutions to be faithful Catholics.

We cannot, however, shut our eyes to the many dangers that threaten the destruction of the sacred fabric upon which depend our peace, liberty and free institutions although our wealth has increased and prosperity abounds, we mind under the shadow of this system incipient pauperism, discontented men and children without the benefits of education, without the advantages of religion, deprived of any share in the abundance or participation in the blessings which, through our free institutions, God Almighty has designed for the people of our land.

We recognize the importance of religious education, and, as in the state schools no provision is made for teaching religion, we must continue to support our own schools, colleges and universities and multiply and perfect others, so that the benefit of a Christian education may be brought within the reach of every Catholic child.

We also recognize among the these great educational agencies, besides the church and schools, the Christian's home. Whatever imperils its permanency, security and peace is full not only at the individual, but is an attempt to subvert civil society and Christian civilization. Therefore we denounce the existence and development of Mormonism and the tendency to multiply causes of divorce as plague spots on our civilization, a discredit to our government, the degradation of the female sex, and as an foul drug menace to the sanctity of the marriage bond.

We hold it is not sufficient for Catholics to shun bad or dangerous societies, but they ought to take part in good and useful ones. The plan and form of St. Vincent De Paul society are commended, but as it is impossible to enumerate all the societies whose labors have done much to succor the poor and alleviate human misery, it must be left to individual action to select fields in which to work.

Another danger which menaces our republic is the conflict between capital and labor. We view with regret and alarm any antagonism between them, because thereby society itself is imperiled with the church. We condemn nihilism, socialism and communism, and we equally condemn the heartless greed of capital. The remedy must be sought in the meditation of the church, through her action on individual conscience, and thereby on society and in such civil enactments as have been rendered necessary by altered conditions. The employment of young infants, either male or female, is disapproved.

The platform favors Catholics taking greater part than heretofore in general philanthropic and reformatory movements. By mingling more in such works of national virtue as non-Catholic citizens are engaged in, and taking their proper share in the management of prisons and hospitals, we might exert a Catholic influence outside of our own body at the same time we are soliacing the unfortunate and reforming the erring. We should be able to insist on Catholic inmates being freely administered to by their own clergy, and we must assert and secure the right of conscience of Catholics in all institutions under public control.

There are many Christian issues in which Catholics could come together with non-Catholics and shape civil legislation for the public good. In spite of rebuff and isolation and overlooking jealousy, we should seek with non-Catholics for the proper observance of the laws. To effect this we must set our faces firmly against the sale of intoxicating beverages on Sunday; the corrupting influence of saloons in politics, and the crime and pauperism resulting from excessive drinking, require legislative restriction, which we can aid in procuring by joining our influence with that of other societies of intemperance. We favor the passage and enforcement of laws rigidly closing saloons on Sunday and forbidding the sale of liquor to minors and intoxicated persons.

The platform pledges co-operation with the clergy in discussing those great economic educational and social questions, which affect the interest and well being of church, country and society at large.

A protest is made against any change in the education of Indians by which they would be deprived of Christian teachings. Assistance to the clergy is pledged in all ways tending to effect any improvement, physical or moral, in the condition of the negro.

The platform recommends Catholics to subscribe more generally for Catholic publications; books with suggestions for the establishment of daily Catholic newspapers in the large cities, and a Catholic Associated Press agency; recommends the work of Catholic circulating libraries and reading circles, and the efforts to have the best Catholic books and periodicals introduced into public libraries as fast as practicable.

We hope for the introduction of proper church music in all our churches where other music is now heard. Music should help devotion at divine service, and not be such as tends to divert the mind from heavenly thoughts. Efforts should be made to have the congregation join in the singing.

The platform concludes: "We cannot conclude without recording our solemn conviction that the absolute freedom of the holy see is equally indispensible to the peace of the church and the welfare of mankind. We demand, in the name of humanity and justice, that this freedom be scrupulously respected by all secular governments. We protest against the assumption by any government of a right to affect the interests or control the act of our holy father by any form of legislation or other public act to which his full approbation has not been previously given, and we pledge to Leo XIII, our worthy pontiff, to whose hands Almighty God has committed the helm of Peter's bark amid the tempests of this stormy age, the loyal sympathy and unstinted aid of all his spiritual children in vindicating the perfect liberty which he justly claims as his sacred and inalienable right."

A RECEPTION FOR TO-MORROW.

The mayor of Baltimore with words of welcome, then tendered the delegates a reception for Thursday at the city hall. The tender was accepted.

Professor Herman Allen of Chicago, read a paper on "Church Music," advocating the Gregorian and the exclusion of all figured music that did not conform to the plain chant prototype.

J. H. Campbell, of Philadelphia, discussed temperance. He said no other subject except that of education affects so vitally the present and future welfare of the Catholics of the United States. Regarding prohibition, he said it was the logical outcome of a mistaken idea of paternal government, which is contrary to the spirit of American institutions.

Owing to the late hour and the desire of the delegates to witness the torchlight procession, the further reading of papers was suspended, with orders that the remaining ones be printed in the proceedings.

Daniel Dougherty was unanimously voted a place on the committee of future congresses.

Onahan, of Chicago, moved that an international Catholic congress be held, not later than 1892, in Chicago.

Campbell, of Philadelphia, moved an amendment, that the convention be held wherever the world's fair is located. [Applause.]

Onahan seconded the amendment because he believes the world's fair would be held in Chicago.

Spaunhurst of St. Louis expressed his satisfaction with the amendment because he thought it would bring the convention to St. Louis.

The resolution, as amended, was adopted.

It was resolved by the congress that a unanimous vote of thanks be tendered the committee on preliminary arrangements for their unselfish and untiring efforts in convening and organizing the congress.

As Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, had opened the congress, it was desired that he close it. He said, with fiery emphasis: "Go to your homes filled with the enthusiasm of this convention, and spread it through the Union, that this is a new departure for Catholics, this country a mission for Catholic laymen. The day has come, thank God, when all Catholics will rise up and say 'We are worthy of our religion.' The country to be conquered is heaven. Do not go home to sleep, but to work. Go back true Catholics."

Adjourned sine die.

CATHOLICISM AND SECRET SOCIETIES.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—The Sun to-morrow will say: Probably the most radical thing that transpired through the assembling of the first Catholic congress in regard to secret societies. The Catholic church has long been regarded as the implacable enemy of every secret society without its own pale, and it now appears the ban of the church is to be lifted absolutely from every sort of secret organization, except the Masonic order. That the objections to the Masonic brotherhood will also be raised is confidently expected by those in the secret, and it is said to be only a matter of twelve months or so before any man may openly avow himself a member of the Ancient Order of Free and Accepted Masons, as well as a faithful member of the Catholic church.

OLYMPIA LAWMAKE

The House Refuses to Adjourn Until Monday.

A SLIGHT MISUNDERSTAND

Concurrent Action Will Probably Be Taken To-day.

TURNER CONFIDENT OF ELECTI

Harmony Does Not Prevail in the Spokane Delegation—The Lieutenant Governor Assumes His Duties—Yesterday's Proceedings.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 12.—Olympia to-day celebrated the admission of Washington by a salute of forty-two guns, fired from Capitol hill, near the capitol house. The day was bright and cool. A gentle breeze blew all night and scattered the overhanging clouds, and this morning's sun shone in splendor. It was a perfect day.

Both houses assembled at 1 P. M. and almost the entire afternoon in a wrangle as to the time to which they should adjourn. The senate passed a concurrent resolution, proposing to adjourn until Tuesday next, at 12:30 P. M., but the house refused to concur. If the house members favored taking a recess had had any knowledge of parliamentary tactics they could have carried the day by moving to concur, and the resolution was presented. As it was, they still in their seats and allowed the opposition to move to suspend the rules and pass the resolution to the second reading. That required a two-thirds vote, which could not be mustered. After the proposition had been defeated, Speaker Feighan saw that the motion to concur would be carried, but before anybody could make one Speaker Feighan's motion to adjourn prevailed, though neither house can remain much by remaining in session, the week could be spent very profitably in arranging the details, getting the machinery in motion for the large amount of legislation that will claim attention. Bills should be introduced. There are committees to which to refer them; still, they must be laid on the table to be taken up when the proper time arrives. The senate is averse to transacting any business until Governor Ferry is inaugurated, but the house seems inclined to stay in session.

Stevenson's house joint resolution to take recess until Tuesday next brought about a tie between the opposing forces. An amendment was offered to make the day and hour Monday, 1 P. M.

Shaw was the first to raise his voice against taking recesses so early in the session, but he thought it a bad policy. He thought a great deal of time could be saved in arranging the preliminaries at once.

Geoghegan, Pickrell and Clark backed up Shaw had said. Geoghegan said that a recess would not be doing justice to the public, that as a political move it would not be wise.

Harron put an end to the discussion by moving to lay the motion and the amendment on the table, which was carried by a standing vote of 24 to 24.

Seventeen members then asked leave of absence until Tuesday. Browne demurred to the wholesale proceeding, but the house, by a vote of 44 to 23, excused the 17.

The senate concurrent resolution failed to get the two-thirds vote to pass it to the second reading, and the house adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow. The senate was badly puzzled by the action of the house to concur in its resolution, and adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow.

Lieutenant-Governor Laughton was then the state officers elect to take his office. In the senate met this afternoon the oath of office was read to him, and he immediately took his seat as president of that body. He addressed the senate as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Senate—As your constitutional presiding officer, it becomes my pleasant duty at this hour to call to order the first senate of the state of Washington. The convening at this legislature is the result of the struggle of the people of a territory to import into the people of a territory impatiently awaited deferred statehood. The sufficient fruition, significance and joy. Your constituents await with anxious hope such wise and liberal enactments as may be necessary to develop, foster, encourage and protect the marvelous resources with which we are so abundantly blessed. They look for wise and thoughtful legislation in the formation of such a code of laws as will insure harmony, freedom and encouragement to, I trust, the capital and labor which will be applicable to changing needs and conditions of our commerce, our diversified manufactures, their collateral interests, and the rapidly increasing population of this young and vigorous commonwealth. I am sure that kindly feeling and ample courtesy will govern our deliberations, and with the expression of this hope the chair announces that the senate of Washington is now ready to proceed to business.

The mooted question as to when the ballot should be taken for United States senators has been effectually disposed of. In the afternoon house, Grant, of King, offered a joint resolution fixing the day and time next Tuesday at 12 o'clock when the ballot will be taken in the senate and houses. If there is no election then both houses will meet in joint assembly at noon on the following day. The senate concurred in the resolution. The sooner the senators are elected the better it will be for Washington. As long as the deadlock hangs fire, it will claim the attention of the members, to the detriment of other and important business.

Next Monday will be a great day in Olympia. On that day the last vestige of territorial government will disappear in the constitutional inauguration of Governor Moore's term. Governor Ferry will be inaugurated at noon. Five companies of National Guardsmen will participate in the ceremonies, and an inauguration ball will be given. The senate and house to-day appointed committees to make all the arrangements. The senate committee consists of Owings, Van Horn, Wood, Long and Farris, and the house committee of Herron, Mogler, Eddy, Kuhn and Gilchrist.

At the monthly meeting of the board of trade to-night, S. C. Woodruff was appointed to join the house and senate committees to make arrangements for the inauguration ball ceremonies.

Representative J. E. Sandy, of Spokane, has answered to his name for the first time. He had been suffering from heart trouble, it has come, and did not arrive until last night.

In the house this afternoon, Browne, of Spokane, presented a resolution notifying the governor of Washington that the house was ready for business.

"Which governor?" asked Speaker Feighan.

"The governor of the state," retorted Browne.

"The constitution plainly provides that territorial officers shall hold office until the state officers take their places. Governor Moore is therefore, governor of Washington now."

The resolution was laid on the table until Monday.

Judson, of Pierce, is one of the best parliamentarians in the house. He was asked what would be the policy of the democratic members in the house, who number eight, just enough to turn the tide of a close vote.

"The democrats will pursue an economical conservative policy," he answered. "If there is any vicious legislation, we will raise our voices against it. "I think there is nothing to it on this score, for the house seems to be a conservative body."

The present session will be the longest and most expensive that Washington will ever have. It is unlimited as to time, and will last from four and six months, and the estimates for the sitting will be between $75,000 and $100,000. The constitution limits all succeeding sessions to sixty days. The republicans recognize the responsibility that rests upon their shoulders, and seem determined to give the people such legislation that will be in proportion to so large an expenditure.

The Spokane delegation are in hot water over the withdrawal of Hyde there has been considerable unanimity among the delegation in the senatorial question. The delegation was instructed in county convention as a Hyde delegation, and never was given no sort of a show in this convention, and the delegation was transconti-nental line. Pullman palace sleepers and free family sleeping cars on all through trains. Union ticket office, First and Oak streets.

THE SPEAKERSHIP CONTEST.

Reed in the Lead and McKinley's Chances Not Very Good—A Dark Horse May Win.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The general opinion among politicians here is that the result of the election in Ohio last week has undoubtedly injured Major McKinley's speakership canvass, and there are those who predict that it may lead him to withdraw from the race. Some of his friends, however, say that it will do him good; that it emphasizes Ohio as a doubtful state, and that since his district is to be gerrymandered he ought to be speaker, so as to help himself to a re-election. It will be remembered that Reed was given a complimentary minority vote for the speakership in the forty-eighth congress, upon his own request, for the purpose of assisting him before his constituency. There is no question but that Reed is in the lead for the speakership. It is now with him simply a question of whether there will be more members who will give him complimentary votes on the first ballot than will come to him as second choice after the first ballot. The opinion is about equally divided. Many contend that he cannot be elected, unless he has over sixty-five votes from the start and shows a good gain on the second ballot. There is talk of all the other candidates having a conference, with a view, since it is the field against Reed, of a consolidation. Cannon appears likely to be winner, as he is gaining steadily.

THE PUGET SOUND NAVY YARD.

Commodore White Criticises the Report of the Commissioners.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—It is not certain that the site selected for a navy yard on Puget sound will be finally agreed to. It leaked out to-day that Secretary Tracy has referred the report of the commissioners to Commodore White, chief of yards and docks, for his opinion thereon, and that the latter gave it, and severely commented on the report. Just how far he criticises the site selected is not known, as the commodore will not talk, and Tracy is in the same humor, nor is it known whether White recommended the non-selection of the site. But from another source it was learned that Secretary Tracy will probably recommend that no new navy yard be established on the Pacific coast, but that the Mare Island yard be increased to meet any emergency and be the only yard on the coast. This latter report, however, cannot be verified, although it bears a tinge of possibility.

support Hyde. "The old man refused positively and also stated that if he was nominated and elected he would refuse to be bound by any resolutions favoring Hyde that might be passed by the convention. He was nominated and elected, and refused to make the delegation solid for Hyde. The Turner adherents claimed that the delegation could be made solid for their man Hyde's withdrawal threw the delegation into utter confusion. Turner could not count on one-half of them. Final y, it was concluded that in justice to Turner the delegation should decide on its stand in his case and a caucus was called at the Spokane headquarters at 10 o clock this morning, in which the question was fully discussed. The best feeling did not prevail, but no open rupture took place. It was suggested that perhaps Hon A M Cannon, of Spokane Falls, would be the per son upon whom the delegation could unite for United States senator, but it was found that such was not case. Finally the vote was taken and it was found that Turner could not depend upon more five out of the delegation. It was a complete surprise to the Turner men. The five d legates who would not vote for Turner are for Allen. The members of the delegation who are for Allen are put down as Senators Hyde Van Houten and Watt, and Representatives Grubb and Clark.

The action of the Spokane delegation does not seem to worry Judge Turner. He was in a happy frame of mind when seen to-night. Referring to to-day's meeting of the Spokane delegation, he said 'I am exceedingly pleased with the present outlook, and am satisfied that Mr Allen will not be senator from the East side. I know exactly where I stand to-night, and believe that I see my way to an election. This does not count at all upon the four Spokane members who have declared that they will not abide by the resolution of instructions under which they were nominated. So far as they are concerned, I believe that every one of them will abide by the resolution and cast his ballot for me, but my calculations at the present time do not include their assistance.'

Judge Turner's strength is computed to-night at the ty six votes. His brother is among those who give that figure.

When the house meets to-morrow the senate concurrent reso ution proposing a recess until next Monday will be called up, and the general impression to-night is that it will be concurred in. The principal cause of the disagreement to-day was that the house was working under the rules of the session of 1887-8, while the proceedings of the senate were governed by Cushing's Manual. The house, in refusing to notify Governor Moore to-day that it was organized and ready for business, intended no slight to the executive. It was the opinion of the house that it was not in a position to transact business, hence its action.

Supreme Judges Hoyt, Scott, Dunbar and Anders, took the oath of office to-day. They were sworn in by Probate Judge Root. Justice Stiles was not here to-day. He will take the oath to-morrow, after which the court will meet and draw lots for terms. The three long term judges will then elect one of the short term judges chief justice.

THE SENATORIAL FIGHT

The senatorial fight continues. Now that it has been settled that there is to be a ballot next Tuesday, and that there will be no question as to its legality, the adherents of Thompson, Turner Sprague and Brents are making their final attack on the lines of Allen and Squire. Thompson is confident that he will yet defeat the ex governor, and keeps clamoring for the support of Mr Pierce to my delegation. His friends tell people what Thompson would do if General Sprague would only withdraw and throw his support to the Tacoma banker. General Sprague, on the other hand, maintains a dignified silence and insists that he has no intention of withdrawing. Turner and Brents are confident that they will beat Allen whose friends pay no attention to boasts of the opposition. They say that if Squire is elected first and Allen then comes up for election they will surely beat him, but that if the two are proposed at the same time the chances of either Brents or Turner will not be so good. The Squire and Allen men say that if the forces can be strongly organized that the attacks of the enemy amount to butting their heads against a stone wall.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Rev Mr Buck of Olympia opened the proceedings of the house with prayer.

The committee appointed to fix the salaries of the employes was granted until the end of the week to report.

Speaker Feigman designated Hughes Geoghegan Stevenson, Brown of Pierce and Spencer to determine what standing committees are needed.

Clarke, Bird Judson of Whatcom Brown of Pierce, and Nims were appointed a committee to fix the mileage of each member.

Baird's resolution, instructing the sergeant-at-arms to furnish the members with stationery and other conveniences was voted down after a long discussion.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

President pro tem. Parkinson called the senate to order at 11 A M.

Drum opened the proceedings with a motion to administer the oath of office to the secretary and employes of the senate. It was carried. They had already been sworn in under the territorial government.

Luce, Owings, Kinsella, Austin and Parkinson were appointed a committee on rules of the senate and joint rules of the house and senate.

Wilson and Wolfe were designated to act with the house committee to make arrangements for the public printing until next Monday.

The committee on competitive examination for engrossing and enrolling clerks reported four candidates as qualified for the positions. The senate then balloted for engrossing and enrolling clerks, and elected the following: J D McClinton, of Jefferson engrossing clerk, and Isabella Lampkin, of Walla Walla, enrolling clerk.

Ashbury Haines, of Stevens county was elected janitor of the committee rooms at $3.50 per day. Adjourned.

A GOOD WORD FROM THE "CHRONICLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 11.—Of the admission of Washington the Chronicle says editorially: Of the four new states, none has brighter prospects than Washington. It is receiving almost unparalleled immigration and the new settlers are the best class of men, with sufficient means to develop ranches, start factories and build up cities. By the time another census is taken Washington will be able to make a showing in population and wealth that will leave far behind many of the old settled states of the East."

CELEBRATION AT CHEHALIS.

CHEHALIS Wash. Nov 12.—Upon receiving the newspapers announcing the final act for admitting Washington into the Union, Chehalis people appropriately celebrated the day by firing forty two shots from the big cannon each she being for one of the bright stars that now adorn the American flag. The stars and stripes were unfurled from the great flag staff, and a general congratulation was indulged in over the happy event of the admission of our state, wearing the immortal name of Washington.

GREAT REJOICING IN VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Nov 12.—There is general rejoicing in Vancouver, over the admission of Washington as a state and many business houses are decorated with flags in honor of the event.

A THOMPSON VIEW.

The Pierce County Man Thinks he Has Squire Beaten, Sure

TACOMA, Nov 12.—Some of Mr Thompson's friends who returned to-night from Olympia were interviewed by THE OREGONIAN correspondent and stated that the canvass of Mr Thompson was in better shape than ever before. The defeat of the attempt to ballot yesterday is regarded by them as a sure forerunner of the defeat of Governor Squire. After the adjournment of the two houses the headquarters of Mr Thompson were crowded with members of the two houses and many who had refused prior to that time to meet Mr Thompson voluntarily came up and pledged him their support.

General Sprague's chances remain the same. In consequence of the division in the Pierce county ranks, some of the delegations who decline to support Mr Thompson may be induced to waver, because their constituents desire the support of the Pierce county delegation for some special matters since every county delegation has some pet scheme.

It is understood here that General Sprague is willing to retire from the field but that he will by Senator John S Baker his nephew and A Scott Hewitt, one of the represen atives who is an old time friend. These men had both advocated Mr Thompson's candidacy but, on account of the pressure from the Northern Pacific railroad, went back on their promises of support and decided to work so as to give General Sprague the position.

INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE.

A Citizen of Linkville Acquitted of a Heinous Crime

LINKVILLE, Or Nov 12.—J M. Fountain is indicted for an attempt at rape, was acquitted today in the circuit court. Fountain was accused of enticing little girls into the back room of his store and taking improper liberties with them. Several little girls, ranging in age from 10 to 13 years, are supposed to have been his victims. He was indicted on a charge of having attempted to rape the 13 year-old daughter of B F Crouch. The other little girls were not allowed to testify and Fountain escaped on account of insufficient evidence, as it could not be proven that he had attempted or committed any crime.

There is considerable feeling against Fountain in the community and further indictments may be found against him.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

A California Preacher Kills His Wife and Child,

AND ENDS HIS MINISTERIAL CAREER

His Wife Had Not Been Living With Him, and He Was Unable to Persuade Her to Return

STOCKTON, Nov 12.—O A Ross a preacher living near Lockeford, early this morning shot and killed his wife his 8-year old son and himself. He was a Methodist preacher for several years but lately had been an itinerant Congregational ist, traveling about selling books. He had not lived happily with his wife and they separated some time ago. She supported herself and the boy by teaching school near Lockeford and made her home at the residence of Frank Foster. For some time past Ross has been driving to the schoolhouse and taking his wife home at the close of the school hours. He did this yesterday and remained with her all night. He arose at 5 o clock this morning and shot her through the temple with a pistol while she was asleep killing her instantly. The report awoke the little boy who slept in an adjoining room. He rushed into his parents' room and his father shot him twice once in the cheek and once in the temple causing instant death. Before Foster's family could reach the room Ross shot himself in the head and soon died. The real cause of the tragedy is not known but an inquest will be held this afternoon.

Frank Foster the principal witness in the case, and at whose house Ross was stopping says that all three sat talking pleasantly until about 9 o clock when Ross went to bed with his wife and child. I think he was quarreling with her as I heard talking until I went to sleep, about 11 o clock. About 5 o clock this morning I was awakened by four shots in quick succession. I ran in o the room and the bodies were lying just as reported. Ross was still breathing, but was unconscious. The others were dead. It would seem that not a word was spoken before he shot, and there were no screams. I imagine that he killed them while they were asleep. It is evident from the position of the bodies that there were no struggles. Judging from their position and from the situation of the wounds, Ross reached over, and placing the muzzle of the pis ol to his wife's head while she lay with her face turned from him fired a bullet into her brain at a point about half way back from the left ear. She must have turned partly around, and then thrown over her right arm, but died in the act. I think that the child awoke at the first shot and crawled up towards his father. The latter then fired a shot through the right side of his boy's head, the bullet ranging downward and coming out of the right cheek. The third shot pierced the poor little fellow's brain from temple to temple. Ross then sat up in bed judging from appearances and placing the muzzle a little above his right ear sent a bullet tearing through his head. It went clear through, and striking the bedstead fell on the counterpane. His right arm dropped, and he sank back on his right side, still clinching in his death grip the murderous weapon. The scene was more horrible. The front part of his forehead seamed to have been loosened and blown forward. The blood from the hole in his right cheek had extravasated in the membranes and pressed it out, until it formed a bag on his cheek as large as a walnut."

Mrs George Locke, a sister of the murdered woman says that Mrs Ross was 36 years old last Friday and Ross married seventeen years. She had two children, Arthur, the boy who lay on the red lened couch and who was only 8 years and Nellie, a 16 year-old girl, at present away from home. Mrs. Ross was one of four sisters. The surviving three are Mrs George Locke, Mrs Dr Locke and Mrs. Geffrey, living near here. There are three brothers also Dr J S Hammond of Butte Mont., Horace O Hammond, a locomotive engineer of Oakland, and John C Hammond, of Lockeford.

The coroner held an inquest this afternoon over the bodies of the three victims and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with facts already stated. It is thought that Mrs. Ross refused to return and live with her husband and that this was the cause of the tragedy. The relatives of the murdered woman say that Ross had on several occasions during the past few years threatened his wife that he would secure a divorce, but she feared that such action would prompt him to carry out his threats. Mother and son will be buried in the family plot at Lockeford but the remains of Ross will be interred by the county, as the people refuse to give them a resting place in the village cemetery.

A FORTUNE FOR A HORSE.

Senator Hearst Reported to Be Willing to Give Half a Million for Sunol.

SACRAMENTO, Nov 12.—Senator George Hearst, who is in the city to attend the meeting of the National Grange, authorized Dr J Latham to send a dispatch to Senator Stanford saying, if Sunol had not been sold he (Hearst) would give more for the filly than Connor, or any other man on earth. The doctor was likewise instructed to request the senator to put a price on the wonderful horse Palo Alto. The doctor says Hearst insists that money shall not stand in the way of keeping fleet animals in California. If $250,000 will buy Sunol the senator is willing to produce the coin. If it takes half a million dollars, he told the doctor that sum would not daze him. His check was ready for any amount for the animal.

Senator Stanford still declines to name the price at which Sunol was sold to Robert Bonner. The senator's contract with Bonner, however gives to forfeit the privilege of keeping the mare a year to see if she can not trot in 2 04. Speaking on this subject, the senator said: "I have the utmost confidence in her accomplishing this feat. If Sunol had been well this year, and had been given the exercise needed to develop her I am inclined to think she would have made a much better record. For many years I have made a close study of the anatomy of the horse, and can say positively that her great speed is almost entirely due to structural formation. The formation of Sunol favors the greatest amount of speed at the smallest outlay of power. To use an illustration, I may say that she is constructed on the correct mechanical principle for the utilization of power. When her hind leg is extended making the greatest effort for propulsion, it is in an exact straight line from the stifle to the point of the hoof. This gives her the greatest possible amount of leverage. The upper arm is unusually long and powerful and while she does not look like an extraordinary large animal, at points of speed development, she is very big. Her size is where it will do the most good for the production of speed. I believe I have reached a point in breeding where I can say that the birth of a colt, this colt will be able to trot in 2 20, unless he is taken sick, but beyond that it is not safe to make a prediction. Sunol is a mare that one might call the despair of breeders. She has set the mark so high that it seems almost unattainable. Raising the standard means a vast addition to the wealth of the country as well as a great improvement in the facilities for work and travel. It costs no more to feed and rear a fine horse than a poor one and while the first cost of the breeding may be greater, after years of breeding I am convinced that we must look to a thorough bred for speed and strength, even for trotting speed. I am aware that others do not share my views in this respect, but my experiments have not resulted altogether in failure. I am confident that every intelligent person will use the best because it is the cheapest in the end and the most serviceable. It is not difficult to make a big increase in the value of the country's stock. There are 14,000,000 worthless horses in the United States. Very little effort would add $10 to the value of each horse to be bred hereafter and then you have $140,000,000 added to the wealth of the country."

THE CALIFORNIA BOARD OF TRADE

A Movement on Foot to Organize a Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 12.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the State Board of Trade to-day, a communication from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce asking for an expression of opinion as to the advisability of organizing a Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce, was read, discussed and delegates appointed to attend a meeting of the Pacific coast chamber on the 19th inst.

All local boards of trade were asked to co-operate with the grange organizations throughout the state in establishing members of the national grange on their travels through the state.

A long series of rules regulating California on Wheels was revised and adopted.

Joseph McDonald was appointed superintendent, S. G. Mathes, of Los Angeles, first officer and I. G. Tranquelin second officer. The rules prohibit the sale of anything from the cars.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

He Will Depart From Usage and Employ a Typewriter.

WASHINGTON Nov 12.—It is stated that President Harrison's message will be sent to congress in typewriter form. Heretofore, it has been customary to have the messages put in type and printed by trusted men at the government printing office. The president, however, has decided to depart from the practice of his predecessors, and the newspapers will be thrown on their own resources to obtain this much sought-after document.

The Pan-Americans.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 13.—The all American delegates to-day inspected the sugar refinery, Cramp's ship yards and several iron industries. The delegates took lunch at the University of Pennsylvania where a pleasant hour was spent. A lunch the party was joined by the ladies, who had previously been tendered a reception by George W Childs.

A MONTANA MUDDLE

The First Legal Complication Under the New Order of Government.

HELENA Nov 12—The first legal complication under the new order of government arose today, when F W Cole filed in the supreme court an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of W H Venneday sentenced last week by a jury at Butte to one year in the penitentiary. Venneday is the Anaconda difaulting express agent, he obtained a change of venue from Deer Lodge to Silver Bow county. The grounds for applying for the writ arises out of the Silver Bow judgeship muddle which seems to be most puzzling. Attorney Cole holds that DeWolfe had no right to sit as judge after his successors had taken the oath of office and duly qualified that such action was taken by Hamilton and McHatton and that right there he lost his power as judge, but that notwithstanding that they had duly qualified he continued in the capacity of judge. The applicant therefore claims that the proceedings by which Venneday was sentenced were illegal and he asks for the discharge of the prisoner. Judge Blake is perplexed as to his position in this case, and he has set next Saturday as the date for the hearing of the argument for the application of the writ. Judge Blake recalls that he has no authority to decide who was the judge at that time.

The outcome of this peculiar state of affairs will be watched with great interest.

District Judge Hunt has established or enforced a new precedent in dealing with divorce cases. Heretofore it has been the simplest matter in the world to obtain a dissolution of the matrimonial bonds the allegations of the plaintiff being accepted as facts. Judge Hunt will require that the allegations alleged shall be corroborated by other testimony than that of the plaintiff.

LANE COUNTY.

The Doings of Her People, and the Rapid Improvement of Her Capital City.

EUGENE, Or., Nov 12.—The board of county commissioners at its session last week appropriated the sum of $50 per month for six months, to be used in repairing what is known as the Lake creek road between Eugene and the head of tide on Siuslaw bay. The money will be expended under the supervision of Mr John Whitman.

A veterans union, with about fifty members was organized in this city last Saturday. Dr B F Russell president; C J Dodd vice president; T M Martin secretary; H Abrams treasurer.

At last there seems almost certain promise of the building of a street railway in this city. The members of the two old companies have agreed to consolidate interests and all pull together. The council was asked last night for a reasonably liberal franchise, which we have no doubt will be granted and if so work will be commenced very soon.

A fine vein of stone coal has been opened recently upon the farm of Mr Lynch two or three miles southwest of the city. The stratum crops on a hillside within eight feet of the surface is of good quality and from five to six feet thick. If this coal was so plenty and cheap the find would be regarded as of importance; and as it is there are certain to be valuable developments as it is well known to old timers that good coal exists all around us.

Lane county has 205 individual, firm or company tax payers who pay on over $5000 seventy three of them over $10 000, seventeen over $30 000 but none over $50 000 except the O & C R R Co which is assessed for $240 408.

FROM WALLA WALLA.

An Interesting Legal Question Raised in a Horse-Stealing Case—Notes

WALLA WALLA Nov 12.—The Washington bank with a capital of $50 000 was incorporated yesterday and will do business here. F M Kendall and B T Byrnes are the trustees.

While the case of the Territory vs J Albrecht for horse-stealing, was on trial, word came that the president had signed the proclamation. Although the defendant immediately moved a dismissal of the case as the territorial court had no jurisdiction, the motion was denied the court holding that the territorial judge held over until his successor qualified.

The fire department has ordered the construction of several new cisterns and fire hydrants. Walla Walla will soon be equal to any city in Washington in fire protection.

A mass meeting in the interest of establishing a bagging factory at the penitentiary yesterday resulted in the production of a memorial addressed to the legislature asking an appropriation of $50 000 to purchase machinery therefor.

The first engine for the Hunt road reached Waitsburg to night. This afternoon two and one-third miles of track were laid in six hours and twenty minutes.

BURNED TO DEATH IN JAIL.

The Melancholy Ending of the Career of an Old Prospector.

COEUR D ALENE CITY Nov 12.—The second fire within a month occurred in this city Sunday morning, at 2, 30 o clock in which the city jail, a wooden structure of one story, about 12 x 14, was totally destroyed. A prospector F J Breen by name, who was unfortunate enough to be incarcerated the evening previous was burned to death. From the evidence at the inquest held by Judge Russell the jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death by his own hands in an attempt to burn his way out of jail." Breen was an ex-soldier, having served two terms of enlistment, and was about 50 years of age. As a prospector and guide he was not thought well of by his brother workmen but the sad manner of his death has created much sympathy throughout the community.

Seattle News Items.

SEATTLE Wash Oct. 12.—Theodore B Wilcox, agent of W S Ladd the Portland capitalist who has signified his intention of erecting a wheat elevator and flour mill in Seattle is here. Wilcox said he could not state definitely when such improvements would begin. There was no wheat to handle yet, and as the Northern Pacific discriminated against Seattle it was impossible to predict when it would be built. He said that Ladd was ready to put the buildings up as soon as the discrimination was removed. Ladd has elevators now at Portland and Tacoma.

The First regiment will leave for Olympia next Sunday morning to participate in the inauguration Monday. Companies B, D and E go from Seattle and Company E of Ballard. Many rifles and the recently organized cavalry company will be taken aboard the steamer at Tacoma.

The regimental band and first regiment drum corps headed by Seattle will accompany the regiment. There will be about 300 men under the command of Colonel Haines.

The representatives of the Vanderbilt system of railroads paid Seattle a short visit to-day. The party came from Portland and spent several hours in visiting different points of interest in the city. They left at 2 P M for Tacoma, from which place they will return to Portland.

Columbia County Notes.

ST. HELENS, Or, Nov 11.—A special term of the county court was held last Saturday to consider several petitions for liquor licenses.

One day during the past week a timber locator located thirteen men on timber lands between Clatskanie and the Nehalem valley.

The postoffice at Columbia City has been discontinued for the season as that one was desirous of fulfilling the arduous duties of that position for the pay allowed. All mail for that place will hereafter be sent to St. Helens.

Astoria Notes.

ASTORIA Nov 9.—The county court this morning as the board of equalization, reduced the tax roll of $5 936,745 thirty per cent, making Clatsop county's assessment a little over $4,000 000 not after the deduct on of the indebtedness exemptions. The court accepted the county road from Olney to the Columbia county line, and ordered proper papers made out to enable Messrs Morrison and Carnahan contractors to get warrants from the state treasury for $9000 the amount appropriated by the last state legislature for building such roads.

Moses Rogers, an old pioneer of this county, and an old time pilot of the Columbia river bar, is lying seriously ill.

Tacoma Notes.

TACOMA, Nov 2.—The court has adjudged Manager Cheney, of the Tacoma hotel, and others, bookkeepers, guilty of violating the 11 o clock closing ordinance and sentenced them to pay a fine each of $25 and costs. Cheney has announced his intention to appeal.

To-morrow the city council will investigate the charges against Chief of Police Chesney for incompetency. An alleged failure to enforce the license and gambling laws is the ground of the discontent.

The Kootenai & Columbia River Railway.

VANCOUVER B C, Nov 12.—A party of engineers will start to-morrow to survey the route of the Kootenai & Columbia River railway for which the Canadian Pacific railway obtained a charter and land grant at the last session of the provincial legislature. The proposed road will run from Sproat's Landing to Nelson, and with its steamboats, will afford connection between important mining districts and the Canadian Pacific railway's main line at Revelstoke.

THE CRONIN CASE.

The Taking of Testimony Drags Its Slow Length Along.

WRANGLING AMONG ATTORNEYS

Kunze, the Suspect, Writes a Letter—The Latest Arrest Believed to Be the Muchly-Sought for B Simonds.

CHICAGO Nov 12.—At the opening of the Cronin trial this morning State's Attorney Longenecker offered the hairs which the experts had examined in evidence but did not offer the other specimens such as the blood stained pieces of wood.

Forrest for the defense demanded that the chips be put in also and that the nails be left in the custody of the clerk. This led to a bitter dispute between opposing counsel which was finally dropped and Salesman Hatfield who sold the furniture to J B Simonds was called to the witness chair. He positively identified the frame of the satchel found in the sewer Friday as corresponding in size with the one which he sold to Simonds and that the material of the cover and of the handle were the same. The frame was admitted in evidence.

Pauline Hoestell, a washerwoman, testified that she passed the Carlson cottage between 8 and 9 o clock on the night of the murder. She said that when a horse drawing a buggy in which there were two men was driven up to the cottage the larger man got out of the buggy and taking a satchel or box out of the buggy entered the cottage. The driver of the white horse at once turned and drove back toward Chicago. Witness stated that she then heard somebody crying 'oh God!' and then the sound of hard blows and of somebody falling.

At the afternoon session Officer J McKennon, of the Winnipeg force was put on the stand. He told the circumstances of Burke's arrest.

McKinnon said Burke's ticket to Liverpool bore the name of W C Casper. After a time he admitted that his name was Burke and that he was sometimes called Delaney. Burke said he came from Hancock, Mich. where he had been working.

Henry Plaudy a salesman in a shirt store in Chicago testified that the morning after the murder a man came into the store and bought a shirt, when he asked if the salesman thought the sleeves large enough. Plaudy suggested that he take a little off and he measured. The man refused in a vehement manner to do this. Then he took the shirt and went across the street returning soon after with another man younger and smaller who also bought a shirt. Plaudy says the first customer was the prisoner, Burke and identified the photograph of Mooney, the Fox as the other.

Chief of Police Hubbard testified as to a talk he had with Dan Coughlin about May 23 or 24, asking the detective where he was on the 4th. Coughlin could not exactly remember, and when asked about the man he sent over to Dinan's to get a rig told a story about the visitor from Hancock with a letter from his (Coughlin's) brother.

The Eugene Cumberland Presbyterian church is to have a new pastor in the person of Rev G A. Blair, late of Lebanon Ohio.

FROM WALLA WALLA.

An Interesting Legal Question Raised in a Horse-Stealing Case—Notes

WALLA WALLA Nov 12.—The Washington bank with a capital of $50 000 was incorporated yesterday and will do business here. F M Kendall and B T Byrnes are the trustees.

While the case of the Territory vs J Albrecht for horse-stealing, was on trial, word came that the president had signed the proclamation. Although the defendant immediately moved a dismissal of the case as the territorial court had no jurisdiction, the motion was denied the court holding that the territorial judge held over until his successor qualified.

The fire department has ordered the construction of several new cisterns and fire hydrants. Walla Walla will soon be equal to any city in Washington in fire protection.

A mass meeting in the interest of establishing a bagging factory at the penitentiary yesterday resulted in the production of a memorial addressed to the legislature asking an appropriation of $50 000 to purchase machinery therefor.

The first engine for the Hunt road reached Waitsburg to night. This afternoon two and one-third miles of track were laid in six hours and twenty minutes.

BURNED TO DEATH IN JAIL.

The Melancholy Ending of the Career of an Old Prospector.

COEUR D ALENE CITY Nov 12.—The second fire within a month occurred in this city Sunday morning, at 2, 30 o clock in which the city jail, a wooden structure of one story, about 12 x 14, was totally destroyed. A prospector F J Breen by name, who was unfortunate enough to be incarcerated the evening previous was burned to death. From the evidence at the inquest held by Judge Russell the jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death by his own hands in an attempt to burn his way out of jail." Breen was an ex-soldier, having served two terms of enlistment, and was about 50 years of age. As a prospector and guide he was not thought well of by his brother workmen but the sad manner of his death has created much sympathy throughout the community.

Seattle News Items.

SEATTLE Wash Oct. 12.—Theodore B Wilcox, agent of W S Ladd the Portland capitalist who has signified his intention of erecting a wheat elevator and flour mill in Seattle is here. Wilcox said he could not state definitely when such improvements would begin. There was no wheat to handle yet, and as the Northern Pacific discriminated against Seattle it was impossible to predict when it would be built. He said that Ladd was ready to put the buildings up as soon as the discrimination was removed. Ladd has elevators now at Portland and Tacoma.

The First regiment will leave for Olympia next Sunday morning to participate in the inauguration Monday. Companies B, D and E go from Seattle and Company E of Ballard. Many rifles and the recently organized cavalry company will be taken aboard the steamer at Tacoma.

The regimental band and first regiment drum corps headed by Seattle will accompany the regiment. There will be about 300 men under the command of Colonel Haines.

The representatives of the Vanderbilt system of railroads paid Seattle a short visit to-day. The party came from Portland and spent several hours in visiting different points of interest in the city. They left at 2 P M for Tacoma, from which place they will return to Portland.

Columbia County Notes.

ST. HELENS, Or, Nov 11.—A special term of the county court was held last Saturday to consider several petitions for liquor licenses.

One day during the past week a timber locator located thirteen men on timber lands between Clatskanie and the Nehalem valley.

The postoffice at Columbia City has been discontinued for the season as that one was desirous of fulfilling the arduous duties of that position for the pay allowed. All mail for that place will hereafter be sent to St. Helens.

The Tide Creek Dam and Boom Company are successfully driving their logs to tidewater since the construction of their new dam. There is estimated to be about 10 000 000 feet of logs in this creek.

Martin Garniff who has a homestead on Scappoose has been adjudged insane by County Judge Switzer and sent to the asylum at Salem.

Pebble Creek, in the Nehalem valley, is offering a bounty of $10 for cougar scalps in addition to the $5 paid by the county.

Astoria Notes.

ASTORIA Nov 9.—The county court this morning as the board of equalization, reduced the tax roll of $5 936,745 thirty per cent, making Clatsop county's assessment a little over $4,000 000 not after the deduct on of the indebtedness exemptions. The court accepted the county road from Olney to the Columbia county line, and ordered proper papers made out to enable Messrs Morrison and Carnahan contractors to get warrants from the state treasury for $9000 the amount appropriated by the last state legislature for building such roads.

Moses Rogers, an old pioneer of this county, and an old time pilot of the Columbia river bar, is lying seriously ill.

Tacoma Notes.

TACOMA, Nov 2.—The court has adjudged Manager Cheney, of the Tacoma hotel, and others, bookkeepers, guilty of violating the 11 o clock closing ordinance and sentenced them to pay a fine each of $25 and costs. Cheney has announced his intention to appeal.

To-morrow the city council will investigate the charges against Chief of Police Chesney for incompetency. An alleged failure to enforce the license and gambling laws is the ground of the discontent.

The Kootenai & Columbia River Railway.

VANCOUVER B C, Nov 12.—A party of engineers will start to-morrow to survey the route of the Kootenai & Columbia River railway for which the Canadian Pacific railway obtained a charter and land grant at the last session of the provincial legislature. The proposed road will run from Sproat's Landing to Nelson, and with its steamboats, will afford connection between important mining districts and the Canadian Pacific railway's main line at Revelstoke.

FOR FREE SILVER COINAGE

Colorado Advocates Meet in Convention and Effect an Organization.

DENVER Nov 12.—The silver convention met at the chamber of commerce this morning with about 400 delegates present from various parts of the state. The convention was called for the purpose of taking such collateral steps toward securing the free coinage of silver and adopting a platform by which the Colorado delegates to the coming silver convention at St. Louis shall be governed. The convention will also recommend to Governor Cooper the names of the delegates to be appointed to the St. Louis convention. This morning ex Congressman Symes was elected temporary chairman. Committees were appointed and a recess taken until 2 o clock.

At the afternoon session H B Chamberlain was elected permanent chairman.

Governor Cooper, Chamberlain and several others spoke up on the free coinage question, after which a recess was taken until to-morrow.

A KENTUCKY FEUD.

Several Men Killed Out right and a Number Wounded.

LONDON Ky Nov 12.—The French Eversole feud at Hazard Ky has broken out afresh. Several have been killed.

LOUISVILLE Nov 12—A letter received this afternoon, dated Hyden, November 11 says: A fight occurred in Hazard Thursday, beginning at 8 P M and continuing fifty two hours resulting in the death of three or four and the wounding of several others. About fifty on one side and fifteen on the other were engaged. Persons from that section say Ed Campbell and Johnny McKnight of the Eversole party, were instantly killed and J Field jailer of Perry county, and his young brother were badly wounded. The fields were strewn with dead. The soldiers were in Perry county a year ago things have been comparatively quiet, though several killings have occurred at intervals.

ASSISTED BY MEXICO.

General Barrundia Fomenting a Revolution in Guatemala.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov 12.—General Barrundia, the Guatemalan exile, and a resident here, is receiving assistance from the Mexican government with a view of fomenting a revolution in his native country. That, in brief, is the substance of what is talked of in whispers just at present in semi-official circles. It is further asserted that money has been furnished for the purchase at New York of a quantity of arms for use in a revolutionary movement. It will be recalled General Barrundia's newspaper organ here, El Fiarellon Nacional has had front to say of an insurrection in Guatemala. The proposed movement in Guatemala is one step, according to the same authority, in a great movement, which has for its ultimate object the union of all the Central American states with republican Mexico. The ambition of General Diaz it is said is to become president or dictator, of all that lies between the Rio Grande and the Isthmus of Panama.

A CORNER ON IRON AND STEEL.

British Shipbuilders Placed in a Serious Position by the Rise in Prices.

LONDON Nov 12.—British shipbuilders are placed in a serious position by the rise in the price of iron and steel. A further advance is feared and if this takes place many firms will lose money on contracts now under way. Unless there is a speedy fall in plates and raw material, this great British industry will be seriously threatened, and the question may be solved as to whether the American flag may not resume its former position upon the sea. Much of the best steel used in the Clyde and at Barrow comes from Spain and the rumor of an export duty on the product being considered by that power has created consternation. The Middleborough iron market is excited. It is reported that a syndicate has bought up all the Cleveland warrants, cornering the market. Middlesbrough No 3 warrants are quoted at 65 shillings cash.

SCORING THE PARNELLITES.

Sir Henry James Says They Are Ready to Commit the Most Infamous Outrages.

LONDON Nov 12.—Sir Henry James continued his speech in behalf of the Times before the Parnell commission to-day. He pointed out the abundance of evidence that had been produced to show the common aims and methods of the Irish republican brotherhood and the Clan-na-Gael. The skirmishing fund, he declared, was a murder fund behind the constitutional and political methods. Members of the Parnellite party sought to conceal their active alliance with secret societies, many members of which were ready to commit the most infamous outrages.

PARNELL'S LIBEL AGAINST THE "TIMES."

A motion to set aside the decision of the lower courts postponing the trial of the libel suit brought by Parnell against the Times came up for hearing before the court of the queen's bench to-day. The court refused the application.

ARMY DISBURSEMENTS

A Large Net Increase over Last Year—More Discharged Men the Cause.

WASHINGTON, Nov 12.—The annual report of Paymaster General Rochester to the secretary of war shows the total disbursements during the past fiscal year to have been $14,786 621 net, an increase of $324 918 over last year. This increase is due to the large increase in the number of discharged men which was 997 more than during the previous year. The reduction on the electric force are paid the accumulations of retained pay, clothing not drawn, deposits with interest and traveling allowances from the place of discharge to the place of enlistment.

Coughs colds and sore throat cured by KIDD's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

Of treating diseases by electricity is, like many other good things in medicine, not new but its principle of action is so little understood that its employment at the present day makes it practically a new discovery. The medical profession at large, not possessing the true secret of the proper remedies to use are still blundering in the dark, and throwing discredit through their ignorance on one of the greatest medical advances of the present day.

For the benefit of those to whom this plan of cure is new and who may be seeking aid though distrustful after many failures of every body and everything the Drs Darrin desire to explain simply and logically the theory of electro therapeutics, and leave them as men of common sense and judgment to take or refuse the aid offered as their arguments and examples are based on known physiological facts and experiments. They ask nothing beyond a fair hearing and a fair trial.

Deafness Cured in Ten Minutes.

Mr Editor—For some time I have been troubled with partial deafness, and lately could scarcely hear in one ear with a constant ringing noise. I consulted a doctor in Portland which did me no good. I finally went to Dr Darrin and in less than ten minutes he cured me with electricity. I am engineer on the steamer City of Tocio, running from Astoria to Kalama.

G SCHMITH.

Once He Had Pimples on His Face.

Mr Editor—For ten years past I have been troubled with nervous debility and pimples on my face and body, as hundreds of other young men are afflicted with. Have been under Dr Darrin's electric treatment for six months and now find myself restored to health and the pimples have about disappeared. Refer to me at Mulino Clackamas county Or. C E KNOTTS.

support Hyde. "The old man refused positively and also stated that if he was nominated and elected he would refuse to be bound by any resolutions favoring Hyde that might be passed by the convention. He was nominated and elected, and refused to make the delegation solid for Hyde. The Turner adherents claimed that the delegation could be made solid for their man. Hyde's withdrawal threw the delegation into utter confusion. Turner could not count on one-half of them. Finally, it was concluded that in justice to Turner the delegation should decide on its stand in his case, and a caucus was called at the Spokane headquarters at 10 o'clock this morning, in which the question was fully discussed. The best feeling did not prevail, but no open rupture took place. It was suggested that perhaps Hon. A. M. Cannon, of Spokane Falls, would be the person upon whom the delegation could unite for United States senator, but it was found that such was not case. Finally the vote was taken, and it was found that Turner could not depend upon over five out of the delegation. It was a complete surprise to the Turner men. The five delegates who would not vote for Turner are for Allen. The members of the delegation who are for Allen are put down as Senators Hyde, Van Houten and Watt, and Representatives Grubb and Clark.

The action of the Spokane delegation does not seem to worry Judge Turner. He was in a happy frame of mind when seen to-night. Referring to to-day's meeting of the Spokane delegation, he said: "I am exceedingly pleased with the present outlook, and am satisfied that Mr. Allen will not be senator from the East side. I know exactly where I stand to-night, and believe that I see my way to an election. This does not count at all upon the four Spokane members who have declared that they will not abide by the resolution of instructions under which they were nominated. So far as they are concerned, I believe that every one of them will abide by the resolution and cast his ballot for me but my calculations at the present time do not include their assistance."

Judge Turner's strength is computed to-night at thirty-six votes. His brother is among those who give that figure.

When the house meets to-morrow the senate concurrent resolution proposing a recess until next Monday will be called up, and the general impression to-night is that it will be concurred in. The principal cause of the disagreement to-day was that the house was working under the rules of the session of 1887-8, while the proceedings of the senate were governed by Cushing's Manual. The house, in refusing to notify Governor Moore to-day that it was organized and ready for business, intended no slight to the executive. It was the opinion of the house that it was not in a position to transact business, hence its action.

Supreme Judges Hoyt, Scott, Dunbar and Anders took the oath of office to-day. They were sworn in by Probate Judge Root. Justice Stiles was not here to-day. He will take the oath to-morrow, after which the court will meet and draw lots for terms. The three long term judges will then elect one of the short term judges chief justice.

THE SENATORIAL FIGHT.

The senatorial fight continues. Now that it has been settled that there is to be a ballot next Tuesday, and that there will be no question as to its legality, the adherents of Thompson, Turner Sprague and Brents are making their final attack on the lines of Allen and Squire. Thompson is confident that he will yet defeat the ex-governor, and keeps clamoring for the support of the Pierce county delegation. His friends tell people what Thompson would do if General Sprague would only withdraw and throw his support to the Tacoma banker. General Sprague, on the other hand, maintains a dignified silence, and insists that he has no intention of withdrawing. Turner and Brents are confident that they will beat Allen, whose friends pay no attention to boasts of the opposition. They say that if Squire is elected first and Allen then comes up for election they will surely beat him, but that if the two are proposed at the same time the chances of either Brents or Turner will not be so good. The Squire and Allen men say that their forces are so strongly organized that the attacks of the enemy amount to butting their heads against a stone wall.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Rev. Mr. Buck, of Olympia, opened the proceedings of the house with prayer.

The committee appointed to fix the salaries of the employes was granted until the end of the week to report.

Speaker Feigban designated Hughes, Geoghegan, Swanson, Brown of Pierce, and Spencer to determine what standing committees are needed.

Clarke, Bird, Judson of Whatcom, Brown of Pierce, and Nims were appointed a committee to fix the mileage of each member.

Rutter's resolution, instructing the sergeant-at-arms to furnish the members with stationery and other conveniences was voted down after a long discussion.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

President pro tem. Parkinson called the senate to order at 1 A. M.

Drum opened the proceedings with a motion to administer the oath of office to the senators and employes of the senate. It was carried. They had already been sworn in under the territorial government.

Luce, Owings, Kneeland, Austin and Parkinson were appointed a committee on rules of the senate and joint rules of the house and senate.

Wilson and Wise were designated to act with the house committee to make arrangements for the public printing until next Monday.

The committee on competitive examination for engrossing and enrolling clerks reported four candidates as qualified for the positions. The senate then balloted for engrossing and enrolling clerks, and elected the following: J. D. McClinton, of Jefferson, engrossing clerk; and Isabella Lumpkin, of Walla Walla, enrolling clerk.

Ashbury Haines, of Stevens county, was elected janitor of the committee rooms at $5.00 per day.

Adjourned.

A GOOD WORD FROM THE "CHRONICLE."

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Of the admission of Washington, the Chronicle says editorially: "Of the four new states, none has brighter prospects than Washington. It is receiving almost unparalleled immigration, and the new settlers are the best class of men, with sufficient means to develop ranches, start factories and build up cities. By the time another census is taken Washington will be able to make a showing in population and wealth that will leave far behind many of the old settled states of the East."

CELEBRATION AT CHEHALIS.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Nov. 12.—Upon receiving the newspapers announcing the final act for admitting Washington into the Union, Chehalis people appropriately celebrated the day by firing forty-two shots from the big cannon, each shot being for one of the bright stars that now adorn the American flag. The stars and stripes were unfurled from the great flag staff, and a general congratulation was indulged in over the happy event of the admission of our state, wearing the immortal name of Washington.

GREAT REJOICING IN VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Nov. 12.—There is general rejoicing in Vancouver, over the admission of Washington as a state, and many business houses are decorated with flags in honor of the event.

A THOMPSON VIEW.

The Pierce County Man Thinks He Has Quite Beaten, Sure.

TACOMA, Nov. 12.—Some of Mr. Thompson's friends who returned to-night from Olympia were interviewed by THE OREGONIAN correspondent, and stated that the canvass of Mr. Thompson was in better shape than ever before. The defeat of the attempt to ballot yesterday is regarded by them as a sure forerunner of the defeat of Governor Squire. After the adjournment of the two houses the headquarters of Mr. Thompson were crowded with members of the two houses, and many who had refused prior to that time to meet Mr. Thompson voluntarily came up and pledged him their support.

General Sprague's chances remain the same. In consequence of the division in the Pierce county ranks, some of the delegations who desire to support Mr. Thompson may be induced to waver, because their counties desire the support of the Pierce county delegation for some special matters, since every county delegation has some pet scheme.

It is understood here that General Sprague is willing to retire from the field, but is held by Senator John S. Baker, his nephew, and A. Scott Hewitt, one of the representatives, who is an old time friend. Those men both advocated Mr. Thompson's candidacy, but, on account of the pressure from the Northern Pacific railroad, went back on their promises of support and decided to work so as to give General Sprague the position.

INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE.

A Citizen of Linkville Acquitted of a Heinous Crime.

LINKVILLE, Or., Nov. 12.—J. M. Fountain, indicted for an attempt at rape, was acquitted today in the circuit court. Fountain was accused of enticing little girls into the back room of his store and taking improper liberties with them. Several little girls, ranging in age from 10 to 13 years, are supposed to have been his victims. He was indicted on a charge of having attempted to rape the 13 year-old daughter of R. F. Crouch. The other little girls were not allowed to testify, and Fountain escaped on account of insufficient evidence, as it could not be proven that he had attempted or committed any crime.

There is considerable feeling against Fountain in the community and further indictments may be found against him.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A California Preacher Kills His Wife and Child,

AND ENDS HIS MINISTERIAL CAREER

His Wife Had Not Been Living With Him, and He Was Unable to Persuade Her to Return.

STOCKTON, Nov. 12.—O. A. Ross, a preacher living near Lockeford, early this morning shot and killed his wife, his 8-year-old son and himself. He was a Methodist preacher for several years, but lately had been an itinerant Congregationalist, traveling about selling books. He had not lived happily with his wife, and they separated some time ago. She supported herself and the boy by teaching school near Lockeford, and made her home at the residence of Frank Foster. For some time past Ross has been driving to the schoolhouse and taking his wife home at the close of the school hours. He did this yesterday, and remained with her all night. He arose at 5 o'clock this morning and shot her through the temple with a pistol while she was asleep, killing her instantly. The report awoke the little boy, who slept in an adjoining room. He rushed into his parents' room, and his father shot him twice, once in the cheek and once in the temple, causing instant death. Before Foster's family could reach the room, Ross shot himself in the head and soon died. The real cause of the tragedy is not known, but an inquest will be held this afternoon.

Frank Foster, the principal witness in the case, and at whose house Ross was stopping, says that all three sat talking pleasantly until about 9 o'clock, when Ross went to bed with his wife and child. "I think he was quarreling with her, as I heard talking until I went to sleep, about 11 o'clock. About 5 o'clock this morning I was awakened by four shots in quick succession. I ran into the room, and the bodies were lying just as reported. Ross was still breathing, but was unconscious. The others were dead. It would seem that not a word was spoken before he shot, and there were no screams. I imagine that he killed them while they were asleep. It is evident from the position of the bodies that there were no struggles. Judging from their position and from the situation of the wounds, Ross reached over, and placing the muzzle of the pistol to his wife's head, while she lay with her face turned from him, fired a bullet into her brain at a point about half way back from the left ear. She must have turned partly around, and then thrown over her right arm, but died in the act. I think that the child awoke at the first shot and cuddled up towards his father. The latter then fired a shot through the right side of his boy's head, the bullet ranging downward and coming out of the right cheek. The third shot pierced the poor little fellow's brain from temple to temple. Ross then sat up in bed, judging from appearances, and placing the muzzle a little above his right ear, sent a bullet tearing through his head. It went clear through, and striking the bedstead fell on the counterpane. His right arm dropped, and he sank back on his right side, still clutching in his death grip the murderous weapon. The boy's wounds were horrible. The front part of his forehead seemed to have been loosened and blown forward. The blood from the hole in his right cheek had extravasated in the membrane and pressed it out, until it formed a bag on his cheek as large as a walnut."

Mrs. George Locke, a sister of the murdered woman, says that Mrs. Ross was 36 years old last Friday, and had been married seventeen years. She had two children, Arthur, the boy who lay on the reddened couch, and who was only 8 years, and Nellie, a 16-year-old girl, at present away from home. Mrs. Ross was one of four sisters. The surviving three are Mrs. George Locke, Mrs. Dr. Locke and Mrs. Geffrey, living near here. There are three brothers also, Dr. J. S. Hammond, of Butte, Mont., Horace O. Hammond, a locomotive engineer of Oakland, and John C. Hammond, of Lockeford.

The coroner held an inquest this afternoon over the bodies of the three victims, and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with facts already stated. A rumor is afloat that Mrs. Ross refused to return and live with her husband, and that this was the cause of the tragedy. The relatives of the murdered women say that Ross had on several occasions during the past few years threatened his wife. She was engaged to seek a divorce, but she feared that such action would prompt him to carry out his threats. Mother and son will be buried in the family plot at Lockeford, but the remains of Ross will be interred by the county, as the people refuse to give them a resting place in the village cemetery.

A FORTUNE FOR A HORSE.

Senator Hearst Reported to Be Willing to Give Half a Million for Sunol.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 12.—Senator George Hearst, who is in the city to attend the meeting of the National Grange, authorized Dr. H. Latham to send a dispatch to Senator Stanford saying, if Sunol had not been sold, he (Hearst) would give more for the filly than Connor, or any other man on earth. The doctor was likewise instructed to request the senator to put a price on the wonderful horse, Palo Alto. The doctor says Hearst insists that money shall not stand in the way of keeping fleet animals in California. If $250,000 will buy Sunol, the senator is willing to pay down the coin. If it takes half a million dollars, he told the doctor that sum would not daze him. His check was ready for any amount for the animal.

Senator Stanford still declines to name the price at which Sunol was sold to Robert Bonner. The senator's contract with Bonner, however, gives the former the privilege of keeping the mare a year, to see if she can not trot in 2:04. Speaking on this subject, the senator said: "I have the utmost confidence in her accomplishing this feat. If Sunol had been well this year, and had been given the exercise needed to develop her, I am inclined to think she would have made a much better record. For many years I have made a close study of the anatomy of the horse, and can say positively that her great speed is almost entirely due to structural formation. The formation of Sunol favors the great amount of speed at the smallest outlay of power. To use an illustration, I may say that she is constructed on the correct mechanical principle for the utilization of power. When her hind leg is extended, making the greatest effort for propulsion, it is in an exact straight line from the stifle to the point of the hoof. This gives her the greatest possible amount of leverage. The upper arm is unusually long and powerful, and while she does not look like an extraordinary large animal, at points of speed development, she is very big. Her size is where it will do the most good for the production of speed. I believe I have reached a point in breeding where I can say that the birth of a colt, like Sunol, will be able to trot in 2:20, unless he is taken sick, but beyond that it is not safe to make a prediction. Sunol is a mare that one might call the despair of breeders. She has set the mark so high that it seems almost unattainable. Raising the standard exceeds a vast addition to the wealth of the country, as well as a great improvement in the facilities for work and travel. It costs no more to feed and rear a fine horse than a poor one, and while the first cost of the breeding may be greater, after years of breeding I am convinced that we must look to a thoroughbred for speed and strength, even for trotting speed. I am aware that others do not share my views in this respect, but my experiments have not resulted altogether in failure. I am confident that every intelligent person will use the best because it is the cheapest in the end and the most serviceable. It is not difficult to make a big increase in the value of the country's stock. There are 14,000,000 workhorses in the United States. Very little effort would add $10 to the value of each horse to be bred hereafter, and then you have $140,000,000 added to the wealth of the country.

THE CALIFORNIA BOARD OF TRADE.

A Movement on Foot to Organize a Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the State Board of Trade to-day, a communication from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, asking for an expression of opinion as to the advisability of organizing a Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce, was read, discussed and delegates appointed to attend a meeting of the Pacific coast chamber on the 19th inst.

All local boards of trade were asked to cooperate with the grange organizations throughout the state in entertaining members of the national grange on their travels through the state.

A long series of rules regulating "California on Wheels" were read and adopted.

Joseph McDonald was appointed superintendent, S. G. Mathes, of Los Angeles, first officer, and E. G. Franquelin, second officer. The rules prohibit the sale of anything from the cars.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

He Will Depart From Usage and Employ a Typewriter.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—It is stated that President Harrison's message will be sent to congress in typewriter form. Heretofore, it has been customary to have the messages put in type and printed by trusted men at the government printing office. The president, however, has decided to depart from the practice of his predecessors, and the newspapers will be thrown on their own resources to obtain this much sought-after document.

The Pan-Americans.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—The all-American delegates to-day inspected the sugar refinery, Cramp's ship yards and several iron industries. The delegates took lunch at the University of Pennsylvania, where a pleasant hour was spent. At lunch the party was joined by the ladies, who had previously been tendered a reception by George W. Childs.

A MONTANA MUDDLE.

The First Legal Complication Under the New Order of Government.

HELENA, Nov. 12.—The first legal complication under the new order of government arose today, when F. W. Cole filed in the supreme court an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of W. H. Venneday, sentenced last week by a jury at Butte to one year in the penitentiary. Venneday is the Anaconda defaulting express agent, who obtained a change of venue from Deer Lodge to Silver Bow county. The grounds for applying for the writ arises out of the Silver Bow judgeship muddle, which seems to be most puzzling. Attorney Cole holds that DeWolfe had no right to sit as judge after his successors had taken the oath of office and duly qualified; that such action was taken by Hamilton and McClinton, and that right there he lost his power as judge; but that notwithstanding that they had duly qualified he continued in the capacity of judge. The applicant therefore claims that the proceedings by which Venneday was sentenced were illegal, and he asks for the discharge of the prisoner. Judge Blake is perplexed as to his position in this case, and he has set next Saturday as the date for the hearing of the argument for the application of the writ. Judge Blake realizes that he has no authority to decide who was the judge at that time.

The outcome of this peculiar state of affairs will be watched with great interest.

District Judge Hunt has established or enforced a new precedent in dealing with divorce cases. Heretofore it has been the simplest matter in the world to obtain a dissolution of the matrimonial bonds, the allegations of the plaintiff being accepted as facts. Judge Hunt will require that the allegations adduced shall be corroborated by other testimony than that of the plaintiff.

LANE COUNTY.

The Doings of Her People and the Rapid Improvement of Her Capital City.

EUGENE, Or., Nov. 12.—The board of county commissioners at its session last week, appropriated the sum of $50 per month for six months, to be used in repairing what is known as the Lake creek road between Eugene and the head of tide on Siuslaw bay. The money will be expended under the supervision of Mr. John Whitman.

A veterans union, with about fifty members was organized in this city last Saturday. Dr. B. F. Russell, president; C. J. Dodd, vice-president; T. M. Martin, secretary; W. H. Abrams, treasurer.

At last there seems almost certain promise of the building of a street railway in this city. The members of the two old companies have agreed to consolidate interests and all pull together. The council was asked last night for a reasonably liberal franchise, which we have no doubt will be granted, and if so work will be commenced very soon.

A fine vein of stone coal has been opened recently upon the farm of Mrs. Lynch, two or three miles southeast of the city. The coal crops on a hillside within eight feet of the surface, is of good quality and from five to six feet thick. If fuel was not so plenty and cheap the find would be regarded as of great importance, and as it is there are certain to be valuable developments as it is well known to old timers that good coal exists all around us.

Lane county has 205 individual, firm or company tax-payers, who pay on over $5000, seventy-three of them over $10,000, seventeen over $20,000, but none over $30,000 except the O. & C. R. R. Co. which is assessed for $240,498.

The Eugene Cumberland Presbyterian church is to have a new pastor in the person of Rev. G. A. Blair, late of Lebanon, Ohio.

FROM WALLA WALLA.

An Interesting Legal Question Raised in a Horse-stealing Case—Notes.

WALLA WALLA, Nov. 12.—The Washington bank, with a capital of $50,000, was incorporated yesterday and will do business here. F. M. Kendall and B. F. Byrnes are the trustees.

While the case of the territory vs. J. Albrecht, for horse-stealing, was on trial, word came that the president had signed the proclamation. Although the defendant immediately moved a dismissal of the case, as the territorial court had no jurisdiction, the motion was denied, the court holding that the territorial judge held over until his successor qualified.

The fire department has ordered the construction of several new cisterns and fire hydrants. Walla Walla will soon be equal to any city in Washington in fire protection.

A mass meeting in the interest of establishing a bagging factory at the penitentiary yesterday resulted in the production of a memorial addressed to the legislature asking for an appropriation of $50,000 to purchase machinery therefor.

The first engine for the Hunt road reached Waitsburg to-night. This afternoon two and one-third miles of track were laid in six hours and twenty minutes.

BURNED TO DEATH IN JAIL.

The Melancholy Ending of the Career of an Old Prospector.

COEUR D'ALENE CITY, Nov. 12.—The second fire within a month occurred in this city Sunday morning, at 2:30 o'clock, in which the city jail, a wooden structure of one story, about 12 x 12, was totally destroyed. A prospector, P. J. Breen by name, who was unfortunate enough to be incarcerated the evening previous, was burned to death. From the evidence at the inquest held by Judge Russell the jury rendered a verdict that "deceased had come to his death by his own hands in an attempt to burn his way out of jail." Breen was an ex-soldier, having served two terms of enlistment, and was about 40 years of age. As a prospector and quiet citizen he was not disturbed by the brother workmen, but the sad manner of his death has created much sympathy throughout the community.

Seattle Jewelers Items.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 12.—Theodore B. Wilcox, agent of W. S. Ladd, the Portland capitalist, who has signified his intention of erecting a wheat elevator and flour mill in Seattle, is here. Wilcox said he could not state positively when such improvements would begin. There was no wheat to handle yet, and as the Northern Pacific discriminated against Seattle it was impossible to predict when it would be built. He said that Ladd was ready to put the buildings up as soon as the discriminations are removed. Ladd has elevators in Portland and Tacoma.

The First regiment will leave for Olympia next Sunday morning to participate in the inauguration Monday. Companies B, D and E go from Seattle, and Company E, of the Mason rifles, and the recently organized company will be taken aboard the steamer at Tacoma.

The regimental band and First regiment drum corps, both of Seattle, will accompany the regiment. There will be about 800 men, under the command of Colonel Haines.

The representatives of the Vanderbilt system of railroads paid Seattle a short visit to-day. The party came from Portland and spent several hours in visiting different points of interest in the city. They left at 2 P. M. for Tacoma, from which place they will return to Portland.

Columbia County Notes.

ST. HELENS, Or., Nov. 12.—A special term of the county court was held last Saturday to consider several petitions for liquor licenses.

One day during the past week a timber locator located thirteen men on timber lands between Clatskanie and the Nehalem valley.

The postoffice at Columbia City has been discontinued, for the reason that no one was desirous of fulfilling the arduous duties of that position for the pay allowed. All mail for that place will hereafter be sent to St. Helens.

The Tide Creek Dam and Boom Company are successfully driving their logs to tidewater since the construction of their new dam. There is estimated to be about 10,000,000 feet of logs in this creek.

Martin Carniff, who has a homestead on Scappoose, has been adjudged insane by County Judge Switzer, and sent to the asylum at Salem.

Pebble Creek, in the Nehalem valley, is offering a bounty of $10 for cougar scalps in addition to the $5 paid by the county.

Astoria Notes.

ASTORIA, Nov. 12.—The county court this morning, as the board of equalization, reduced the tax roll of 85,898,735 thirty per cent, making Clatsop county's assessment a little over $4,000,000 net after the deduction of the indebtedness exemptions. The court accepted the county road from Olney to the Columbia county line, and ordered proper papers made out to enable Messrs. Morrison and Carnahan, contractors, to get warrants from the state treasury for $9000, the amount appropriated by the last state legislature for building such roads.

Moses Rogers, an old pioneer of this county, and an old time pilot of the Columbia river bar, is lying seriously ill.

Tacoma Notes.

TACOMA, Nov. 12.—The court has adjudged Manager Cheney, of the Tacoma hotel, and other saloonkeepers, guilty of violating the 11 o'clock closing ordinance and sentenced them to pay a fine each of $25 and costs. Cheney has announced his intention to appeal.

To-morrow the city council will investigate the charges against Chief of Police Chesney for incompetency. An alleged failure to enforce the license and gambling laws is the ground of the discontent.

The Kootenai & Columbia River Railway.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 12.—A party of engineers will start to-morrow to survey the route of the Kootenai & Columbia River railway, for which the Canadian Pacific railway obtained a charter and land grant at the last session of the provincial legislature. The proposed road will run from Sprout's Landing to Nelson, and with its steamboats, will afford connection between important mining districts and the Canadian Pacific railway's main line at Revelstoke.

Salem Notes.

SALEM, Nov. 12.—W. E. Warren, of Astoria, and D. K. Rumbaugh, of Sweet Home, were appointed notaries public to-day.

In the supreme court, George B. Purvis, respondent, vs. Ernest Kroner, appellant, on appeal from Multnomah, was argued and submitted.

Coming to Portland to Live.

SPOKANE FALLS, Wash., Nov. 12.—Stephen S. Bailey, member of the city council from the Second ward, has resigned, and will leave on the Pacific express to-morrow for Portland, where he has purchased a half interest in the Gilman house and will reside.

THE CRONIN CASE.

The Taking of Testimony Drags Its Slow Length Along.

WRANGLING AMONG ATTORNEYS

Kunze, the Suspect, Writes a Letter—The Latest Arrest Believed to Be the Muchly-Sought-for B. Simonds.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—At the opening of the Cronin trial this morning, State's Attorney Longenecker offered the bars which the experts had examined, in evidence, but did not offer the other specimens, such as the blood-stained pieces of wood.

Forrest, for the defense, demanded that the chips be put in also, and that the hair be left in the custody of the clerk. This led to a bitter dispute between opposing counsel, which was finally dropped, and Salesman Hatfield, who sold the furniture to J. B. Simonds, was called to the witness chair. He positively identified the frame of the satchel found in the sewer Friday, as corresponding in size with the one which he sold to Simonds, and that the material of the cover and of the handle were the same. The frame was admitted in evidence.

Pauline Hoestell, a washerwoman, testified that she passed the Carlson cottage between 8 and 9 o'clock on the night of the murder. She said that when a horse, drawing a buggy in which there were two men, was driven up to the cottage, the larger man got out of the buggy, and taking a satchel or box out of the buggy, entered the cottage. The driver of the white horse at once turned and drove back toward Chicago. Witness stated that she then heard somebody crying, "Oh, God!" and then the sound of hard blows and of somebody falling.

At the afternoon session Officer J. McKennon, of the Winnipeg force, was put on the stand. He told the circumstances of Burke's arrest.

McKinnon said Burke's ticket to Liverpool bore the name of W. C. Caspar. After a time he admitted that his name was Burke and that he was sometimes called Delaney. Burke said he came from Hancock, Mich., where he had been working.

Henry Plausly, a salesman in a shirt store in Chicago, testified that the morning after the murder a man came into the store and bought a shirt. When he asked if the salesman thought the sleeves large enough, Plausly suggested that he take his coat off and be measured. The man refused in a velvet tone, answering that he would do this. Then he took the shirt and went across the street, returning soon after with another man younger and smaller, who also bought a shirt. Plausly says the first customer was the prisoner, Burke, and identified the photograph of "Cooney, the Fox" as the other.

Chief of Police Hubbard testified as to a talk he had with Dan Coughlin about May 23 or 24, asking the detective where he was on the 4th. Coughlin could not exactly remember, and when asked about the man he sent over to Dinan's to get a rig, told a story about the visitor being Hancock which is accused Cowboy of stealing. Cowboy denied all, and one word brought on another, until Hatch started for his gun, whereupon Cowboy and his brother shot him dead.

The Pluites present turned upon the murderers and killed both of them. This caused a great commotion among the Piutes, who pulled up camp and scattered, leaving their dead lying on the ground where they fell. The Southern Utes, however, returned and gathered a large pile of logs, placed Cowboy and his brother thereon, together with their guns and other personal effects and cremated them, at the same time killing twenty-five horses. The latter ceremony was according to tradition, the Indians believing that in so doing they assist in sending the spirits of the dead Indians to the happy hunting grounds. Fifty Piutes are now assembled in the Blue mountains and 100 warriors from the Southern tribe have gone to meet them, and it is believed that a bloody battle will take place in a few days.

SHERMAN ON THE SILVER QUESTION.

The Ohio Senator Is Interviewed, but Refuses to Elaborate His Views.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—A Washington special says: "I have just returned from an interview with the president, in which the silver question was discussed at some length," said Senator Sherman "I am not at liberty, of course, to report the details of the discussion, but I think that it is pretty well settled that the next congress will be compelled to legislate further in the interests of silver. I am not prepared to state what will be the full nature of the legislation. It will be important, and of a sort in which politics do not enter or at least should not enter, as it is a matter of finance and in the interest of all classes of people, rich and poor alike. My opinion is that whatever is done or nothing can be accomplished under two years at least, because the legislation might be such as would prove ruinous to the country. While I have decided views as to what should be done, I do not at this time care to elaborate them, as the matter is sure to come up in congress, and I may change my mind after a full discussion of the question."

RAILROAD MATTERS.

The Manitoba's Coast Business to Go Over the Canadian Pacific.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 12.—The Manitoba road has issued instructions to all its agents to consign Pacific coast business via its line and the Canadian Pacific. This is owing to the traffic agreement between the Union Pacific and the Chicago & Northwestern, which prevented the Manitoba from sending business to the coast via Butte and Portland. The most important part of this agreement will be to hurry up the construction of the Manitoba's coast line. Several surveying parties are now in the field and when the road is once started it is the intention to push building as fast as men and money will permit. The Manitoba made a phenomenal record in building its Montana extension, which was longer in point of actual distance than the new line to the coast, though the latter presents more engineering difficulties. Before this time next year through trains will be running from St. Paul to the coast on the Manitoba's own tracks.

FOR FREE SILVER COINAGE.

Colorado Advocates Meet in Convention and Effect an Organization.

DENVER, Nov. 12.—The silver convention met at the chamber of commerce this morning with about 500 delegates present from various parts of the state. The convention was called for the purpose of taking some decisive steps toward securing the free coinage of silver and adopting a platform by which the Colorado delegates to the coming silver convention at St. Louis shall be governed. The convention will also recommend to Governor Cooper the names of the delegates to be appointed to the St. Louis convention. This morning ex-Congressman Symes was elected temporary chairman. Committees were appointed and a recess taken until 2 o'clock.

At the afternoon session H. B. Chamberlain was elected permanent chairman.

Governor Cooper, Chamberlain and several others spoke upon the free coinage question, after which a recess was taken until to-morrow.

A KENTUCKY FEUD.

Several Men Killed Out Right and a Number Wounded.

LONDON, KY., Nov. 12.—The French-Eversole feud at Hazard, Ky., has broken out afresh. Several have been killed.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 12.—A letter received this afternoon, dated Hyden, November 11, says: A fight occurred in Hazard Thursday, beginning at 8 P. M., and continuing fifty-two hours, resulting in the death of three or four and the wounding of several others. About fifty on one side and fifteen on the other were engaged. Persons from that section say Ed Campbell and Johnny McKnight, of the Eversole party, were instantly killed, and J. Field, jailor of Perry county, and his young brother, were badly wounded. The Fields will certainly die. Since the soldiers were in Perry county a year ago, things have been comparatively quiet, though several killings have occurred at intervals.

ASSISTED BY MEXICO.

General Barrundia Fomenting a Revolution in Guatemala.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 12.—General Barrundia, the Guatemalan exile, and a resident here, is receiving assistance from the Mexican government with a view of fomenting a revolution in his native country. That, in brief, is the substance of what is talked of in whispers just at present in semi-official circles. It is further asserted that money has been furnished for the purchase at New York of a quantity of arms for use in a revolutionary movement. It will be recalled. General Barrundia's newspaper organ here, El Pavellon Nacional, has had much to say of an insurrection in Guatemala. The proposed movement in Guatemala is one step, according to the same authority, in a great movement, which has for its ultimate object the union of all the Central American states with republican Mexico. The ambition of General Diaz, it is said, is to become president, or dictator, of all that lies between the Rio Grande and the Isthmus of Panama.

A CORNER ON IRON AND STEEL.

British Shipbuilders Placed in a Serious Position by the Rise in Prices.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—British shipbuilders are placed in a serious position by the rise in the price of iron and steel. A further advance is feared, and if this takes place many firms will lose money on contracts now under way. Unless there is a speedy fall in plates and raw material, this great British industry will be seriously affected, and the question may be solved as to whether the American flag may not resume its former position upon the sea. Much of the best steel used in the Clyde and at Barrow, comes from Sheffin, and the rumor of an export duty upon the product being considered by that power has created consternation. The Middleborough iron market is excited. It is reported that a syndicate has bought up all the Cleveland warrants covering the market. Middlesbrough No. 3 warrants are quoted at 48 shillings cash.

SCORING THE PARNELLITES.

Sir Henry James Says They Are Ready to Commit the Most Infamous Outrages.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Sir Henry James continued his speech in behalf of the Times before the Parnell commission to-day. He pointed out the abundance of evidence that had been produced to show the common aims and methods of the Irish republican brotherhood and the Clan-na-Gael. The skirmishing fund, he declared, was a murder fund behind the cause of constitutional methods. Members of the Parnellite party sought to conceal their active alliance with secret societies, many members of which were ready to commit the most infamous outrages.

PARNELL'S LIBEL AGAINST THE "TIMES."

A motion to set aside the decision of the lower courts postponing the trial of the libel suit brought by Parnell against the Times came up for hearing before the court of the queen's bench to-day. The court refused the application.

ARMY DISBURSEMENTS

A Large Net Increase over Last Year—More Discharged Men the Cause.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The annual report of Paymaster-General Rochester to the secretary of war shows the total disbursements during the past fiscal year to have been $14,786,621 net, an increase of $324,918 over last year. This increase is due to the large increase in the number of discharged men, which was 907 more than during the previous year. To these men on their discharge are paid the accumulations of retained pay, clothing not drawn, deposits with interest and traveling allowances from the place of discharge to the place of enlistment.

Of treating diseases by electricity is, like many other good things in medicine, not new, but its principle of action is so little understood that its employment at the present day makes it practically a new discovery. The medical profession at large, not possessing the true secret of the proper remedies to use, are still blundering in the dark, and throwing discredit through their ignorance on one of the greatest medical advances of the present day.

For the benefit of those to whom this plan of cure is new, and who may be seeking aid, though distrustful, after many failures of everybody and everything, the Drs. Darrin desire to explain simply and logically the theory of electro-therapeutics, and leave them as men of common sense and judgment to take or refuse the aid offered, as their arguments and examples are based on known physiological facts and experiments. They ask nothing beyond a fair hearing and a fair trial.

Deafness Cured in Ten Minutes.

Mr. Editor: For some time I have been troubled with partial deafness, and lately could scarcely hear in one ear, with a constant ringing noise. I consulted a doctor in Portland which did me no good. I finally went to Dr. Darrin and in less than ten minutes he cured me with electricity. I am engineer on the steamer City of Tocio, running from Astoria to Kalama.

G. SCHMITH.

Open Ha Had Pimples on His Face.

Mr. Editor: For ten years past I have been troubled with nervous debility and pimples on my face and body, as hundreds of other young men are afflicted with. Have been under Dr. Darrin's electric treatment for six months and now find myself restored to health, and the pimples have about disappeared. Refer to me at Mulino, Clackamas county, Or. C. E. KNOTTS.

Drs. Darrin's Place of Business.

Drs. Darrin can be consulted free at 225 Fifth street, corner of Main, Portland. Office hours, from 10 to 4 o'clock daily; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12. All curable chronic diseases, loss of manhood, blood taints, syphilis, gleet, gonorrhœa, stricture, spermatorrhœa, sexual weakness, or loss of desire of sexual power, in man or woman, catarrh and deafness, are confidentially and successfully treated. Cures of private diseases guaranteed, and never published in the papers. Most cases can receive home treatment after a visit to the doctors' office. Inquiries answered and circulars sent free. The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY NOV. 13.

Piety is the name of a prominent democrat of Indiana He probably combines religion and politics

Brito's emblem the ace of spades, was placed between the anvils that were fired in honor of statehood in that city the other day

An effort will be made during this session of the Washington legislature to inaugurate the Australian method of voting in that state.

The little son of W R McCormack, of Eugene, swallowed the round head of a parasol handle last week, and nearly strangled to death before it was removed

The democratic press of Montana pepper their ebullitions on statehood with so much blood and thunder rot that it is impossible to tell where the laugh comes in

Superstitious people up in Montana are beginning to move out The state was admitted on Friday and that same night Governor Toole saw the moon over his left shoulder

The Pacific Journal published at Oysterville refers to "sweet potatoes as 'cereals' which do well in Pacific county We presume that it places their oyster product on the same list.

Mrs Sanden, of Artondale surprised a big bear in her back yard last week She did not scream or fall in a faint, but stepped into the house and, getting a rifle, dispatched the intruder.

The Hillsboro Independent, of last Thursday, appeared as a special issue in which the resources and business of Washington county are detailed at length. The issue is a very creditable one.

The Seattle Journal publishes a rumor to the effect that an Eastern and English syndicate are negotiating for the purchase of the Port Blakely mills, together with all the lands and other property of the firm

A new census of India shows that the population is 288 477,378 The Hindoo population numbers 190 000,000, the Mohammedan 51 000,000 and the Christians less than 2,000 000. Of these last one-half are Roman Catholics

Harney county comes forward this the first year of her existence as a county, with taxable property to the total value of $1,472,486 Good for Harney county—she will some day take her seat among the wealthiest counties of Oregon

Two nice milk cows, harnessed to a buggy, formed a part of an immigrant outfit that passed down Main street in Baker City the other day The old gentleman who handled the ribbons over this quaint looking team now that he has made his trip "the plains across," can settle down and go to raising cattle.

The residents of Ostling, Wash., are proud of the fact that they have a sensation in the shape of an elopement. Last week Mrs Sophia Johnson, the 400-pound wife of Isak Johnson proprietor of the Scandinavian hotel packed up all the available furniture in the hotel and fled with the cook, a diminutive specimen of humanity that weighs only about 100 pounds

A La Grande paper recently published the statement that Mr W J Snodgrass of that place was a candidate for the office of United States marshal, and the statement was copied into The Oregonian Mr Snodgrass says the statement is entirely without foundation He would not think of becoming an applicant for that or any other office

The assessor of Lane county has just completed his work for the current year, and his footings show that that county has a gross valuation of all property amounting to $8,626,973, with an indebtedness of all classes aggregating $1,292,192, and exemptions equal to $532 458 levying a net property of $5,802 823 subject to taxation for the county This is an increase of about $700 000 as compared with last year

William C Dillingham while fishing in Gordon creek a few days since discovered a beautiful fossil trout fifteen inches in length in a huge boulder. Every fin and scale of the fish was as plainly marked in the rock as if cut by a skilled artist. Many people wonder how trout get in streams above high falls. They were doubtless there before the falls were made, as from this fossil it is evident that there were trout in the streams of Oregon in prehistoric ages.

According to the Ochoco Review a wrong impression prevails regarding the effect of last summer's drouth in Eastern Oregon The past season was a severe one for the residents of this county, but not so bad that any one will suffer for want of plenty to eat or to make any ready to sell cattle for less than they are worth. If Eastern folks were to see the green grass now on the hills of Crook county they would be envious and would not believe there ever had been a drouth there

Secretary Windom's lead ore decison has affected a good many mining camps in Idaho This, from the Wood River Times is a case in point 'Bayhorse, which two weeks ago was a booming' camp with hundreds of people in prosperous circumstances is being rapidly deserted. As soon as Secretary Windom's ruling on Mexican silver lead ores was known there all the argentiferous galena mines and the smelting furnaces were put in shape for a protracted season of idleness Over 300 men were thrown out of employment in a single camp

The following which is a little different from the usual run of obituary notices, appears in the Lakeview Examiner this week "Poor old Kelton Bright as the sun that shone a mind that was capable of grasping the most brilliant of ideas An attorney who could have been without a rival Honest, conscientious and without an enemy Always ready to do a favor for any one and liberal beyond his means And he died like a dog without home uncared for until at the last moment His friends had done much for him in the past four years but it was impossible to keep him away from whisky Whisky! how we hate the word when we see it destroy the lives of such men as Mark A Kelton A man who could have been a shining light in the literary legal or political world !"

It seems certain, at last that Gibbs, the brutal murderer of young McDevitt has been apprehended and that he will in due time be conducted to as safe quarters as Multnomah county is able to furnish to await trial for his wanton and unprovoked deed There is a general feeling of satisfaction at the capture of this criminal since his crime was of a character that appealed for sympathy to every home in the city The photograph forwarded to Sheriff Kelly for identification shows the stolid, rather than the vicious features of a man who appears to be scarcely more than a boy in years and in whom the blood of his African ancestors is plainly visible. The public joins the constabulary of Multnomah county in the hope that the murderer of James McDevitt is at last in the toils of justice from which he will escape in due time from a rope's end.

PORTLAND WEDNESDAY, NOV. 13.

Piety in the name of a prominent democrat of Indiana He probably combines religion and politics

But Jacob on the ace of spades, was placed between the anvils that were fired in honor of statehood in that city the other day

An effort will be made during this session of the Washington legislature to inaugurate the Australian method of voting in that state

The little son of W R McCormack, of Eugene swallowed the round head of a parasol handle last week and nearly strangled to death before it was removed

The democratic press of Montana pepper their ebullitions on statehood with so much blood and thunder rot that it is impossible to tell where the laugh comes in

Superstitious people up in Montana are beginning to move out. The state was admitted on Friday and that same night Governor Toole saw the moon over his left shoulder

The Pacific Journal published at Oysterville refers to sweet potatoes as "cereals" which do well in Pacific county We presume that it places their oyster product on the same list.

Mrs Sanders of Artondale, surprised a big bear in her back yard last week She did not scream or faint in a faint, but stepped into the house and, getting a rifle, dispatched the intruder

The Hillsboro Independent of last Thursday, appeared as a special issue in which the resources and business of Washington county are detailed at length The issue is a very creditable one

The Seattle Journal publishes a rumor to the effect that an Eastern and English syndicate are negotiating for the purchase of the Port Blakely mills, together with all the lands and other property of the firm

A new census of India shows that the population is 269 477,378 The Hindoo population numbers 190 000,000, the Mohammedan 81 000 000, and the Christians less than 2,000 000 Of these last one-half are Roman Catholics

Harney county comes forward this the first year of her existence as a county with taxable property to the total value of $1 472 486 Good for Harney county—she will some day take her seat among the wealthiest counties of Oregon.

Two nice milk cows harnessed to a buggy formed a part of an immigrant outfit that passed down Main street in Baker City the other day The old gentleman who handled the ribbons over this quaint looking team, now that he has made his trip "the plains across," can settle down and go to raising cattle.

The residents of Orting, Wash., are proud of the fact that they have a sensation in the shape of an elopement. Last week Mrs Sophia Johnson, the 400-pound wife of Isak Johnson, proprietor of the Scandinavian hotel, packed up all the available furniture in the hotel and fled with the cook, a diminutive specimen of humanity that weighs only about 100 pounds

A La Grande paper recently published the statement that Mr W J Snodgrass of that place was a candidate for the office of United States marshal, and the statement was copied into The Oregonian Mr Snodgrass says the statement is entirely without foundation He would not think of becoming an applicant for that or any other office

The assessor of Lane county has just completed his work for the current year and his footings show that that county has a gross valuation of all property amounting to $8 626 973 with an indebtedness of all classes aggregating $1,222,192, and exemptions equal to $632 458, saving a net property of $5,802 323 subject to taxation for the county This is an increase of about $700,000 as compared with last year

William C Dillingham, while fishing in Gordon creek a few days since, discovered a beautiful fossil trout fifteen inches in length in a huge boulder. Every fin and scale of the fish was as plainly marked in the rock as if cut by a skilled artist Many people wonder how trout get in streams above high falls They were doubtless there before the falls were made as from this fossil it is evident that there were trout in the streams of Oregon in prehistoric ages.

According to the Ochoco Review a wrong impression prevails regarding the effect of last summer's drouth in Eastern Oregon The past season was a severe one for the residents of this county, but not so bad that any one will suffer for want of plenty to eat, or to make any ready to sell cattle for less than they are worth If Eastern folks were to see the green grass now on the hills of Crook county, they would be envious and would not believe there ever had been a drouth there

Secretary Windom's lead ore decision has affected a good many mining camps in Idaho This, from the Wood River Times, is a case in point Bayhorse, which two weeks ago was a "booming" camp with hundreds of people in prosperous circumstances, is being rapidly deserted As soon as Secretary Windom's ruling on Mexican silver lead ores was known there, all the argentiferous galena mines and the smelting furnaces were put in shape for a protracted season of idleness Over 300 men were thrown out of employment in a single camp

The following which is a little different from the usual run of obituary notices, appears in the Lakeview Examiner this week "Poor old Kelton. Bright as the sun that shone a mind that was capable of grasping the most brilliant of ideas An attorney who could have been without a rival Honest conscientious and without an enemy Always ready to do a favor for any one and liberal beyond his means And he died like a dog without home uncared for until at the last moment His friends had done much for him in the past four years but it was impossible to keep him away from whisky Whisky! how we hate the word when we see it destroy the lives of such men as Mark A Kelton A man who could have been a shining light in the literary legal, or political world"

It seems certain, at last that Gibbs the brutal murderer of young McDevitt has been apprehended and that he will in due time be conducted to as safe quarters as Multnomah county is able to furnish to await trial for his wanton and unprovoked deed There is a general feeling of satisfaction at the capture of this criminal since his crime was of a character that appealed for sympathy to every home in the city The photograph forwarded to Sheriff Kelly for identification shows the stolid, rather than the vicious features of a man who appears to be scarcely more than a boy in years and in whom the blood of his African ancestors is plainly visible The public joins the constabulary of Multnomah county in the hope that the murderer of James McDevitt is at last in the toils of justice from which he will escape in due time from a rope's end

UNITED STATES MARSHAL'S NOTICE—Admiralty seizure. The steamship George W. Elder. United States of America, District of Oregon, ss. Whereas, a libel hath been filed in the District Court of the United States, for the District of Oregon, on the 26th day of October, A. D. 1889, by Mr. E. N. Deady, proctor, on behalf of Peter O. Nordeen, in a cause of damages, civil and maritime, against the steamship called the George W. Elder, her tackle, apparel, furniture and machinery, and praying the condemnation and sale of the court, that all persons interested in said steamship, her tackle, apparel, furniture and machinery may be cited to appear and answer the premises, and the premises being read, that the said steamship may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law and the rules of this court. I, therefore, in pursuance of the said monition, and the seal of the said court, to me directed and delivered, on the 26th day of October, A. D. 1889, I do hereby give notice generally unto all persons having or claiming to have any right, title or interest in the said steamship called the George W. Elder, her tackle, apparel, furniture and machinery to appear before me, in my said court, in the city of Portland, in said district, on the 2d day of December, 1889 (it being a court day), or before on the next court day thereafter, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, then and there to answer the said libel and to make known their allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Portland, in said district, this 26th day of October, A. D. 1889.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 13.

"BURN UP" THE ASSESSED.

We think Mr. W Carey Johnson somewhat misses the mark when he calls upon THE OREGONIAN to "burn up the assessor." Mr Johnson in his letter of November 5, intimated that the law of Oregon imposes a penalty for a refusal, on the part of a tax payer, to make a list of his property under oath and hand the same to the assessor But in fact the law of Oregon imposes no penalty for such refusal or omission for it only authorizes the assessor in these circumstances to assess the delinquent taxpayer upon his visible and discoverable property The Vermont law obliges the assessor to assess the delinquent upon double the value of this visible and discoverable property, the doubling being practically a penalty for tax evasion The Oregon tax law treats the delinquent taxpayer in the spirit of Dogberry, who tells the watch to bid all 'wag rom men to stand" but "if they will not stand, to take no note of them, but let them go, and presently call the rest of the watch together and thank God you are rid of a knave" This is the spirit of the Oregon tax law, and the assessors are generally composed of persons whom Dogberry accurately describes as "ancient and most quiet watchmen,' when they confess 'We will rather sleep than talk, we know what belongs to a watch'

Mr Johnson has no authority of law for his advice to an assessor to double a delinquent taxpayer and he seems by his letter of Nov 9 to believe that the evil of tax evasion can be corrected by "putting the legal screws" to assessors In our judgment, if there is anybody to be 'burned up" in this matter it is not the assessor, but the assessed The law has no business to assume that an assessor will play he part of a cheap detective The state has a right to demand that the taxpayer shall put in a sworn list and to punish him for his failure to comply with the mandate of the law As the law stands at present the assessed shelter themselves behind the inefficiency the indifference or the cowardice of the assessor, and demand that the assessor be burnt up" by the newspapers This is absurd and unjust. The persons to be 'burned up' are the assessed, who form that public opinion that enacts vicious tax laws, and even then fails to the cross any assessor who attempts to do his full duty under the literal text of the law

To illustrate Suppose Mr Johnson owned a valuable piece of property in Portland Suppose the assessors should assess that property at about one third of its cash value would Mr Johnson object? Probably not for he would shelter himself behind the plea that all make, that he had paid his taxes according to the assessed value of his property, and he was not responsible for the failure of the assessors to do their full duty under the literal text of the law. But what makes the assessor fail to do his duty under the literal text of the law? It is because he knows that public opinion as in favor of tax evasion, for if it was not, Mr Johnson would appear before the county board and remonstrate against his property being put in at a third of its value He doesn't appear to remonstrate against under-valuation, but does anybody believe that if the assessors had over valued his property Mr Johnson would hesitate to appear before the board and argue against the injustice inflicted upon him? The moment assessors find out that Mr Johnson is as thoroughly angry at being under-valued as he is at being over valued the assessors will be quite likely to do their whole duty The personal protest of one citizen against illegal under-valuation before a board of assessors, and the publication of his protest, would be worth more to the tax law than all inflammatory appeals to THE OREGONIAN to 'burn up" the assessors, when really the assessed are the people who most deserve to be burnt up"

If intelligent men persist in taking advantage of our tax laws by putting quietly in their pockets the money they save by the undervaluations of their property, how can they expect the assessors will rise above the level of that public opinion which persuades a "tax reformer" to pocket without protest the proceeds of under valuations through the law he is so anxious to reform? The greedy and dishonest assessed who control the public opinion which rules the assessor are responsible for the administration of the tax laws of Oregon, and these immoral assessed not the assessors, are the persons to be lashed and 'burnt up"

Suppose there was no more public opinion behind the law against horse stealing than there is behind the tax law which requires the assessor to list all real property at its cash value, how safe would horses be in Oregon, and how disreputable would be horse thieves? One good deed is worth a thousand years of prayer and one rich man not only willing but anxious to pay his honest taxes under law, is worth a thousand years of discussion of tax systems

The indispensable antecedent to a decent system of taxation is a decent public opinion that sincerely demands just taxation

EMIN PASHA

The news that Stanley is coming home with the remains of Emin Pasha's party means the evacuation of the equatorial provinces of Africa in which this greatest of Chinese Gordons lieutenants has spent twelve years of his life The river Nile from its source in the great lake of Victoria Nyanza to its mouth, is about 4,000 miles in length The headquarters of Emin's government was at Wadelai, which is on the Nile, about forty miles below the junction of the Nile with Lake Albert Nyanza This equatorial province extends from the mouth of the river Sobat, a tributary of the Nile, to Lake Albert Nyanza It was annexed to Egypt in 1869 by Sir Samuel Baker and was organized by Gordon in 1874-76 when the Khedive made him governor general of Soudan The capital of this equatorial province was Lado distant from Khartoum 1010 miles, but Emin Pasha was compelled by the late mahdi to abandon this post for Wadelai about 200 miles further south From Lado to Victoria Lake by the Nile is about 540 miles

Emin was originally a medical officer under Gordon and was made governor general of the equatorial province containing about 2 000 000 of people in 1878 This region was first made known to the civilized world some twenty five years ago by Speke Grant and Baker Then mahdi's rebellion shut off Emin from all communication with Khartoum and the Soudan, and forced him to leave Lado for Wadelai which at last he has been driven from by the revolt of his people and the invasion of the mahdi

It is clear from Stanley's last dispatches that Emin Pasha owes his escape to Stanley's efforts On August 17 1888 Stanley wrote that eighty two days before he left Emin Pasha in a peaceful and prosperous condition on Lake Albert Nyanza Twenty four hours after this letter was written Emin was imprisoned by his revolted troops Stanley evidently returned from Yambuga on the Aruwimi, where he had gone for the men and stores left there, just in time to save Emin from death or captivity and pilot him safely to the coast at Zanzibar. The object of Stanley's expedition was to rescue Emin Pasha When he first found him Emin appeared to need no relief and yet at the last when he needs him most Stanley returns and the object of the expedition is accomplished. Without Stanley Emin would surely have met the fate of Gordon, for his revolted troops would have murdered him to make terms with the victorious mahdists, who had captured all the stations north of Wadelai as far as Lado

The expulsion of Emin Pasha means the the remission of 2 000 000 of people to barbarism and the slave trade. Emin Pasha is a German, of university education, a man of great ability and strong character. His fate has been long deferred but it was sure to come Colonel Prout (Baroud Bey) who served under Gordon and knew Emin well, predicted his fate in the November Century as follows

One day in Khartoum Gordon asked me what I thought would be the future of the equatorial provinces. I said the power will gradually return to the Arabs, the negroes will kill their friends and tormentors together, and the good old times of war and famine will come back I am still of that opinion. Unless the enlightenment of Europe can control the Upper Nile country, either through the Soudan or from the south, barbarism will control it. By control I mean physical control, and that must be directed by some one better than the Turk, the Arab or the Circassian The negro savage cannot be made a peaceloving citizen in one generation any more than another savage Planting isolated mission stations in the heart of Africa is a waste of money If the great western powers establish permanent commercial routes in that country, and send thither the moral and physical forces to establish and maintain order, steady progress may be made till that has yet been done has produced but a ripple on the great flood of barbarism I cannot better close this paper than with sentence from Gordon "I returned with a sad conviction that no good could be done in those parts, and that it would have been better had no expedition ever been sent"

FREE WOOL.

The democratic newspapers of the East are screaming for free trade, pretending that wool was free of duty during nearly half a century of the republic, and that it must be made free again if we would protect our vast woolen industries and "escape our manufacturers and dealers from bankruptcy" Wool has been dutiable since 1816 and from that time to the present duty no party ever proposed 'free wool' until Grover Cleveland became president. In 1857 no tariff on wool was reduced with disastrous results to the business interests of the country Even the government of the Southern Confederacy with a provision in its constitution which forbade the imposition of protective duties encouraged wool production by levying a duty on raw wool.

In the period from 1850 to 1860 the value of the manufactures of wool increased from $48 000 000 to $65 000,000, or from $1 86 to $2 09 per cap ta After the enactment of a protective tariff in 1861 there was a rapid increase, and in 1870 the value of these manufactures had increased to $177 495 000 or $4 60 per capita and in 1880 their value had reached $267 252,913 or $5 3- per capita.

During all this time we had free cotton In 1860 the value of cotton manufactures was $115 681 774 while that of wool was only $65 306 364, but after twenty years of taxed wool and free cotton the value of the wool manufactures exceeded those of cotton by $75,000,000 In 1870 the production of wool and cotton per capita was the same $4 60 in each case, but in 1880, with a heavy duty on wool woolen manufactures had increased to $5 34 per capita, and cotton manufactures with free cotton, had fallen to $3 83 per capita, and there was with this rapid growth of manufactures a corresponding reduction in the price of woolen goods

The reduced tariff of 1883 was disastrous both to the manufacturers and the farmers If wool were placed on the free list the farmers would be driven out of the wool growing business There would be lower duties on woolens which would close factories discharge operatives and force down wages in other employments that could be invaded

THE DISPOSAL OF THE INDIAN

At last we have some common sense practical talk over an official signature about the disposal of the Indians Commissioner Morgan realizing that the methods of civilization will fail to make a responsible citizen of the Indian so long as the policy of the government tends to maintain him in idleness and encourage him in discontent speaks out boldly and plainly upon the question, in his annual report, just published "The absorption of the Indian into our national life, not as an Indian but as an American citizen" is the ultimatum of the effort which civilization is making in his behalf, and it is a result that cannot be much longer deferred The demands of justice must be met in regard to the Indians and their lands Each one is entitled to his individual share in the tribal property but he is not entitled while living a listless life of vagabondism to a support from the government In the words of Commissioner Morgan, "the Indians must adjust themselves to their environment and conform their mode of living somewhat nearly to our civilization"

Reasonable time in which to do this and intelligent, practical instruction relative to the proper and successful way in which to do it furnish the complete formula of Indian rights" of which specialists in philanthropy are so fond of prating It is only in this way that a sense of personal responsibility without which all attempts at self support are vain and a spirit of independence without which citizenship can only exist in name can be engendered and cultivated When Indians become home builders and individual property owners when they are sufficiently instructed in agricultural thrift and mechanical arts to earn their own living and are impressed with the necessity of doing this with the means that civilization has placed within their reach the vexed question of what shall we do with the Indian" will be dropped from our political catechism

The more intelligent leaders among the Indians fully realize the situation and are anxious to conform to the requirements of civilization The ideas of Chief Joseph as reported in THE OREGONIAN yesterday are those of an intelligent man anxious that the remnant of his fast vanishing band may get hold upon this last hope of the race and in learning how to live according to the edict — in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread — escape complete extermination

Dishonest, lazy and thriftless agents have been the curse of the government's Indian policy, They have as a class been prompt and active in but one thing and that has been in drawing their pay Strict reference to work in which to teach agricultural thrift except by example and no way in which to eradicate idleness except through ways of industry it is little wonder that men who were appointed Indian agents through the political necessity that has from time to time arisen for making place for incompetents have failed to inspire the Indians with any other feelings than those of discontent and distrust and a more or less hatred of the government

John Wilkinson who what ever he was met with encouragement was imbued with a zeal for civilizing Indians through industry I came home methods not long after and in him for recreation to Eastern Oregon whether he went soon every autumn to inquire of pupils for the Indian school then located at Forest Grove, the fact that the house in which the agent (a worthy but dull old man who had outlived his usefulness but not his official life) occupied was a roofing structure with decayed sills and sagging doors that it was without paint and that rank weeds choked the dooryard up to the very edge of the dilapidated steps The example of this agent while not a vicious one was certainly one of laziness, and was as void of the elements of civilized home making as if he had sojourned among the Indians in a tent or huddled over a fire in the center of a bark wigwam, from which the smoke escaped through a hole in the roof

Every one knows how thrift begets thrift among neighbors in a country district. How a coat of paint or a new dooryard fence at Brown's inspires Jones to smarten up his own premises, and how Smith catches the industrial contagion and takes measures to keep the chickens out of the front yard so that his wife's hollyhocks and peonies may have a chance to bloom There is an absolute infection in example of this kind, and when Indian agents are appointed with a view to their knowledge of the homely industries that wait upon civilization, and to their energy in imparting this knowledge to others by example as well as by precept, Chief Joseph, and such as he will no longer have cause to make manly and at the same time, pathetic plaint for their race, saying "My people do not know how to work, and there is no one to teach them or show them how"

Daniel Dougherty in his address at the Philadelphia centennial, said that in colonial times "the only religious martyrs in America were Catholics They were spurned, slandered, vilified, and the highest honors of the republic denied them by a prejudice as strong as a constitutional enactment." It is true that the Puritan governors of Massachusetts Belcher and Endicott, persecuted the Catholics, but the Puritans persecuted the Quakers even to the extent of hanging some of them Anne Hutchinson and Mary Dyer were persecuted by the Puritans, Roger Williams was driven into exile and Corey was pressed to death by the Puritans for refusing to testify There was nothing done to the Catholics in colonial days that was worse than the cruelties In later times a Catholic religious asylum was burned by a mob in Charleston, Mass, a foul deed, but not worse than the sacking of the home for colored children by the Catholic mob during the draft riots of 1863. The truth is that the bigotry ignorance and brutality in America has not been confined either to Protestant or Catholic circles Abner Kneeland was mobbed and jailed in Boston for editing a deistical newspaper, Garrison was mobbed for publishing an anti slavery journal Both in Europe and America bigotry, brutality, superstition and ignorance have committed awful crimes, and neither the Protestant nor Catholic church can show clean hands in this respect Where power and opportunity have been present persecution has done its work in both churches

Our dispatches yesterday announced the firing of several dramatic and operatic managers in Cincinnati for giving Sunday performances On the same day in Portland a prominent clothier was arrested for selling a coat to a stranger In Portland a stranger can buy a cocktail or a cigar on Sunday he can attend a concert or dramatic performance, but he cannot buy a clean collar Sunday laws always sleep until some fellow uses them to wreak a private spite or private vengeance or business rivalry A merchant whose 'religion' forbids him to sell goods on Sunday uses the Sunday law to molest another merchant whose "religion" does not forbid him to sell on Sunday So we have the disgusting spectacle of a statute used as a mere club in the hands of selfish greed to bruise the head of a business rival Where does the "religion" come in under the enforcement of Sunday laws which assume that cocktails and cigars are necessities, while clean collars are "luxuries" that it is sinful to buy or sell on Sunday morning? It looks very much as if the Sunday law was like all obsolete laws useful chiefly as an instrument of private spite or mercantile meanness Its methods are about as heroic as those of the grocers that tried to impose a license fee on the venders of vegetables, that would drive the poor devils out of business and their customers to the grocery

Stanley's last letter announces the discovery of a stream connecting Lake Albert Nyanza and a lake hitherto known as Muta Nzige, to which Stanley has given the name of Albert Edward Nyanza, thus locating definitely a second source of the White Nile corresponding to Lake Victoria Nyanza The Albert and the Victoria Nyanza are connected by outlets with this third lake, Albert Edward Nyanza That there is no connection between this third lake and Lake Tanganyika had already been proved by Livingstone Cameron and Stanley, so that the sources of the Nile are now absolutely ascertained Speke in 1862 identified the Victoria Nyanza discovered in 1858 as one of the sources of the Nile The Albert Nyanza was discovered in 1864 by Sir Samuel Baker who as late as 1873 asserted that it was one and the same with Lake Tanganyika. Stanley in 1876 reached an arm of what he supposed to be the Albert Nyanza, but Captain Mason subsequently proved that this was an arm of a separate lake known as Muta Nzige Stanley has discovered the river connecting this third lake with Albert Nyanza and thus identified what he calls Albert Edward Nyanza as one of the sources of the Nile This swells the length of the Nile to between 3 50 and 4000 miles making it the longest river in the world next to the Amazon

The criminal element has become so bold and its acts of defiance so shameless in Seattle that citizens of that place deem it necessary to adopt unusual proceedings in order to get rid of or subdue its representatives The chief of police has for some days waged relentless warfare upon the dens of vice inhabited by prostitutes and their confederates in crime and a cavalry movement have been inaugurated by gamblers and other citizens to aid in the work of breaking up those places and compelling their inmates and those who frequent them to decamp While we sympathize with Seattle we venture to hope that none of the gang will be headed this way Our police force as at present organized is in no condition to cope with exiles of the character

The senate and house of the Washington legislature do not seem to be working together Monday the house was ready to vote for senator though it lacked a necessary knowledge of how to go about it while the senate insisted on waiting till the 19th Yesterday the senate wanted to take a recess till the 15th but a majority of the house wanted to concur but its ignorance of parliamentary law caused the minority to defeat it The result of it all is that the legislature remains in session with little apparent disposition to do business The rest of the week will be practically wasted so far as legislative business is concerned but the time will be well spent in preparing for the inauguration of Governor Ferry and the senatorial canvassing

Senator Sherman's dream speaks without reflection and his judgment immediately after an interview with the president that some silver legislation is inevitable in the next session of congress is entitled to much weight Just what he means by his mysterious hints as to the attitude of the president can not be guessed Taken in connection with the persistent claims of the silver people that the president and secretary Windom have been partly converted to their views it is significant if not ominous

THE RIVER AT THE DALLES

PASCO Nov 10

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

One of the most important improvements needed to advance the prosperity of Oregon and Washington is the opening of the Columbia river at the Dalles and Cascades. The cause and loss at the Cascades is being now completed, is a matter of vital importance that the obstruction at The Dalles should also be overcome as soon a possible as of immediate use it is of very little benefit without the other I am aware that a number of plans have been suggested and examined but none have yet been advanced that do not present some objectionable feature and the particular plan that a plan could be found that did not require much labor to complete.

It is conceded by all that the 'improvement' should be of national importance and that the general government should cause the work to be done

The two plans that have been most under consideration are a portage railway around the rapids with canal and locks

The principal objection to a portage railroad is that vessels will hardly be expected to furnish capital to build and maintain the railway necessary for the transportation of freight and passengers around the rapids and the time consumed in the transfer of freight from boat to cars and from cars to boat would be a serious objection to the railway

The canal plan would be an expensive one and would require a change in the present method of boats, detrimental to lightness of draught

A canal and locks constructed in the same manner as those at the Cascades would require a vast amount of money and take years to construct but I would suggest a plan that to me seems less costly, and can be operated by inexpensive and easily carried out, and that is to construct a canal or flume on the surface of the ground which for the whole distance is comparatively level but it looks like a high trestle work and would be necessary to run one for leaking and then build a ditch on each side under neath for the cana from the high bank near two miles above Celilo

The expense in engineering difficulties to contend with would be comparatively small as very little blasting rock excavating, would be required Timber for the flumes is near at hand and easily obtained and the water power is all in the canal

It is not necessary to have a stream of water sufficient to float vessels and barges but a small stream would suffice if it could be kept at a uniform depth from six feet or width of from six to ten rods and when this canal is finished a small source would suffice to fill the requirements for locks and barges W I GRAY

The Iowa Delegation Takes Exception to the Proceeding and Withdraws in a Body—The Defection Made Good.

CHICAGO, Nov 12—In the Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention this morning an amendment to the constitution forbidding partisan political action came up on a motion for adoption It was argued at length pro and con Mrs J Ellen Foster, of Iowa, supporting the motion and charging the convention with partisanship in aspersing republican leaders The motion was defeated by a heavy majority

At the afternoon session, Mrs C Clements, of Pennsylvania, read a paper on "Purity in Literature and Art"

Mrs F B Ingalls, of Missouri, spoke on narcotics She instanced particularly the evil effect of cigarette smoking, and suggested the best way to fight narcotics was to teach the children.

Miss Gertrude Ferguson, of Kentucky, read a report on 'Flower Missions,' written by Miss Jennie Cassaday of Kentucky.

Miss Jennie Smith of Maryland superintendent of railroad mission work, told about what had been done during the year.

Mrs C A McCloss, of New Jersey, read a report on 'Soldiers and Sailors" She announced that President Harris on had just sent out an order forbidding the sale of liquor by sutlers. She commended Generals Schofield and Howard because of the example of total abstinence they set for their inferiors. The convention adopted a vote of thanks to the two generals

Mrs Ada Bittenbender reported legislation and petitions.

Mrs T B Carse's report on the national temperance temple to be erected in Chicago at a cost of $1 000 000, said that stock amounting to $512,000 had already been subscribed.

Mrs Rounds, president of the Illinois delegation called the attention of the convention to the notice of an amendment which she offered at the convention in New York last year, to be voted on at this convention It read "All states auxiliary to the national union must subscribe to the total abstinence pledge and to the constitution of the national union, and both states and individuals be required to respect all the principles espoused by the national union" Mrs Rounds said she would withdraw this because it had been misinterpreted in the report. She announced this rad cal position of the Illinois union and the following resolution, which was passed at the last state convention by almost a unanimous vote

Resolved That we once more declare our gratitude for the principle for which we contend is embodied in a party platform and that we will continue to lend our influence to that party which promises protection to our homes that we still maintain the position taken last year that it is the work of the Illinois Woman's Christian Temperance Union that no member has a right, from a public platform to antagonize its policy or denounce the party to which our influence is given

Mrs Caroline B Buell denied the statement that the membership of the national organization has decreased She said it had increased about 5000 during the past year, basing her estimates on the treasurer's report

At the evening session the executive committee announced that it had considered the charges preferred against the national officers by Dr. Weeks Burnet, of the temperance hospital, and returned the resolution, declaring that the national officers were altogether without blame in the matter.

The event of the session was the report of the committee on resolutions touching the non partisan question The majority report says

We believe it is vital to temperance reform that the principle of prohibition be made a dominant issue in American politics We therefore give our approval to that party only which declares in its platform for prohibition state and national, and stands in action for its application to law

The minority report was brought in by Mrs. Mattie M Bailey, of the Iowa delegation, and read as follows

The recent amendment contests have demonstrated the need of more persistent persuasive education in temperance work among all classes of people the results of these several contests having given us practical proof that success in the effort to overthrow the organized liquor traffic can only be assured where the intelligent convictions of the people are in favor of prohibition, and that defeat is certain where such convictions are lacking therefore,

Resolved further That as forty-odd departments of the W C T U work are for no party, but are for the education of the people in the truths of total abstinence an i prohibition, and as we have in our membership women whose differing political preferences lead them to sympathize with and support different political parties therefore it is unjust and unwise for this organization to pledge its influence, support or allegiance to any political party, unjust because if this organization is non partisan, as our president has lately declared, such pledge of influence and support or allegiance, per se unconstitutionally given, interferes with the individual freedom of any and every member to prefer and work for the political party of her choice unwise because in the practical carrying out of that pledge our religious and educational work is thereby subjected to party limitations and antagonized by disastrous partisan opposition

Mrs Foster and Mrs Bailey spoke in favor of the adoption of the minority report

Mrs Clara Hoffman spoke against its adoption

The majority report was adopted by an almost unanimous vote The Iowa delegates alone voted in favor of the minority report

At the closing session of the W C T U National Convention to night, after the voting down of the minority report on the non partisan question, Mrs J Ellen Foster arose, and read a long protest on behalf of the Iowa delegation, setting forth that they had labored faithfully and hopefully until forbearance ceased to be a virtue At the conclusion of the reading the entire Iowa delegation left the hall leaving behind Mrs Carhart, who was not a member of the delegation regularly

Miss Willard spoke briefly about the ball, saying this outcome had been expected, and that the forbearance of the W C T U in the matter had no equal in history

The convention then adopted a resolution authorizing the executive committee to immediately take steps to reorganize the local delegation Miss Willard called for volunteers from among the Iowa visitors to take the place of the second delegation, and a number of ladies promptly came forward, Mrs Hobart was made chairman.

The convention adopted a resolution, saying

We have seen what seems to us to be amply sufficient proof that the vice-pres dent of the United States has permitted a bar in his new apartment house at Washington and we express on announcement grief and condemnation that at this advanced stage of temperance reform the second officer of the government should thus openly patronize with the liquor dealers of the nation

A number of other resolutions were adopted and the convention adjourned, sine die

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, NOV 13

"BURN UP" THE ASSESSED.

We think Mr. W Carey Johnson somewhat misses the mark when he calls upon THE OREGONIAN to "burn up the assessor" Mr Johnson, in his letter of November 5, intimated that the law of Oregon imposes a penalty for a refusal, on the part of a taxpayer, to make a list of his property under oath and hand the same to the assessor. But in fact the law of Oregon imposes no penalty for such refusal or omission for it only authorizes the assessor in these circumstances to assess the delinquent taxpayer upon his visible and discoverable property The Vermont law obliges the assessor to assess the delinquent upon double the value of this visible and discoverable property the doubling being practically a penalty for tax evasion The Oregon tax law treats the delinquent taxpayer in the spirit of Dogberry, who tells the watch to bid all "vagrom men to stand" but "if they will not stand, to take no note of them, but let them go, and presently call the rest of the watch together and thank God you are rid of a knave" This is the spirit of the Oregon tax law, and the assessors are generally composed of persons whom Dogberry accurately describes as "one ent and most quiet watchmen," when they confess 'We will rather sleep than talk, we know what belongs to a watch"

Mr Johnson has no authority of law for his advice to an assessor to double a delinquent taxpayer and he seems by his letter of Nov 9 to believe that the evil of tax evasion can be corrected by 'putting the legal screws" to assessors In our judgment if there is any body to be "burned up" in this matter it is not the assessor, but the assessed. The law has no business to assume that an assessor will play the part of a cheap detective. The state has a right to demand that the taxpayer shall put in a sworn list and to punish him for his failure to comply with the mandate of the law As the law stands at present the assessed shelter themselves behind the inefficiency the indifference or the cowardice of the assessor and demand that the assessor be 'burnt up' by the newspapers. This is absurd and unjust The persons to be "burned up" are the assessed, who form that public opinion that enacts vicious tax laws, and even then nails to the cross any assessor who attempts to do his full duty under the literal text of the law

To illustrate. Suppose Mr Johnson owned a valuable piece of property in Portland Suppose the assessors should assess that property at about one third of its cash value, would Mr Johnson object? Probably not, for he would shelter himself behind the plea that all make, that he had paid his taxes according to the assessed value of his property, and he was not responsible for the failure of the assessors to do their full duty under the literal text of the law. It is because he knows that public opinion is in favor of tax evasion, for if it was not, Mr Johnson would appear before the county board and remonstrate against his property being put in at a third of its value He doesn't appear to remonstrate against under-valuation but does anybody believe that if the assessors had over valued his property Mr Johnson would hesitate to appear before the board and argue against the injustice inflicted upon him? The moment assessors find out that Mr Johnson is as thoroughly angry at being under-valued as he is at being over valued, the assessors will be quite likely to do their whole duty The personal protest of one citizen against illegal under-valuation before a board of assessors, and the publication of his protest, would be worth more to the tax law than all inflammatory appeals to THE OREGONIAN to "burn up" the assessors; when really the assessed are the people who most deserve to be 'burnt up'

If intelligent men persist in taking advantage of our tax laws by putting quietly in their pockets the money they save by the undervaluations of their property, how can they expect the assessors will rise above the level of that public opinion which persuades a tax reformer to pocket without protest the proceeds of under valuations through the law he is so anxious to reform? The greedy and dishonest assessed who control the public opinion which rules the assessor are responsible for the administration of the tax laws of Oregon, and these immoral assessed, not the assessors are the persons to be lashed and "burnt up"

Suppose there was no more public opinion behind the law against horse stealing than there is behind the tax law which requires the assessor to list all real property at its cash value, how safe would horses be in Oregon and how disreputable would be horse thieves? One good deed is worth a thousand years of prayer and one rich man not only willing but anxious to pay his honest taxes under law is worth a thousand years of discussion of tax systems

The indispensable antecedent to a decent system of taxation is a decent public opinion that sincerely demands just taxation.

EMIN PASHA

The news that Stanley is coming home with the remains of Emin Pasha a party means the evacuation of the equatorial provinces of Africa in which this greatest of "Chinese Gordons" lieutenants has spent twelve years of his life The river Nile from its source in the great lake of Victoria Nyanza to its mouth, is about 3200 miles in length The headquarters of Emin's government was at Wadelai which is on the Nile about forty miles below the junction of the Nile with Lake Albert Nyanza This equatorial province extends from the mouth of the river south a tributary of the Nile, to Lake Albert Nyanza It was annexed to Egypt in 1869 by Sir Samuel Baker and was organized by Gordon in 1874-76 when the Khedive made him governor-general of Soudan The capital of this equatorial province was Lado distant from Khartoum 1010 miles, but Emin Pasha was compelled by the late mahdi to abandon this post for Wadelai about 200 miles further south From Lado to Victoria Lake by the Nile about 540 miles

Emin was originally a medical officer under Gordon, and was made governor-general of the equatorial province containing about 2 000,000 of people in 1878 This region was first made known to the civilized world some twenty five years ago by Speke Grant and Baker The mahdi's rebellion shut off Emin from all communication with Khartoum and the Soudan and forced him to leave Lado for Wadelai which at last he has been driven from by the revolt of his people and the invasion of the mahdi

It is clear from Stanley's last dispatches that Emin Pasha owes his escape to Stanley's efforts On August 17 1888 Stanley wrote that eighty two days before he left Emin Pasha in a peaceful and prosperous condition on Lake Albert Nyanza Twenty four hours after this letter was written Emin was imprisoned by his revolted troops Stanley evidently returned from Yambuga on the Aruwimi where he had gone for the men and stores left there, just in time to save Emin from death or captivity and pilot him safely to the coast at Zanzibar. The object of Stanley's expedition was to rescue Emin Pasha When he first found him Emin appeared to need no relief, and yet at the last when he needs him most Stanley returns and the object of the expedition is accomplished. Without Stanley Emin would surely have met the fate of Gordon, for his revolted troops would have murdered him to make terms with the victorious mahdists, who had captured all the stations north of Wadelai as far as Lado

The expulsion of Emin Pasha means the the remission of 2,000,000 of people to barbarism and the slave trade Emin Pasha is a German, of university education, a man of great ability and strong character His fate has been long deferred but it was sure to come Colonel Prout (Baroud Bey), who served under Gordon and knew Emin well, predicted his fate in the November Century as follows:

One day in Khartoum Gordon asked me what I thought would be the future of the equatorial provinces I said the power will gradually return to the Arabs the negroes will kill their friends and tormentors together, and the good old times of war and famine will come back I am afraid of that opinion. Unless the enlightenment of Europe can control the Upper Nile country either through the Soudan or from the south barbarism will control it. By control I mean physical control and that must be directed by some one better than the Turk the Arab or the Circassian. The negro savage cannot be made a peace loving citizen in one generation any more than another savage Planting isolated missionary stations in the heart of Africa is a waste of energy. If the great western powers establish permanent commercial routes in that country, and send there the moral and physical forces to establish and maintain order, steady progress may be made All that has yet been done has produced but a ripple on the great flood of barbarism I cannot better close this paper than with a sentence from Gordon "I returned with the sad conviction that no good could be done in those parts, and that it would have been better had no expedition ever been sent."

FREE WOOL

The democratic newspapers of the East are screaming for free trade, pretending that wool was free of duty during nearly half a century of the republic, and that it was not be made free again if we would protect our vast woolen industries and rescue our manufacturers and dealers from bankruptcy" Wool has been dutiable since 1816 and from that time to the present date no party ever proposed 'free wool' until Grover Cleveland became president. In 1857 the tariff on wool was reduced with disastrous results to the business interests of the country. Even the government of the Southern Confederacy with a provision in its constitution which forbade the imposition of protective duties, encouraged wool production by levying a duty on raw wool.

In the period from 1850 to 1860 the value of the manufactures of wool increased from $48,000,000 to $65 000 000, or from $1 86 to $2 09 per capita After the enactment of a protective tariff in 1861 there was a rapid increase and in 1870 the value of these manufactures had increased to $177 495 000 or $4 60 per capita and in 1880 their value had reached $267,252 913 or $5 31 per capita.

During all this time we had free cotton In 1860 the value of cotton manufactures was $115 681 774 while that of wool was only $ 5 096 364 but after twenty years of taxed wool and free cotton the value of the wool manufactures exceeded those of cotton by $7o 000 000 In 1870 the production of wool and cotton per capita was the same, $4 60 in each case, but in 1880, with a heavy duty on wool, woolen manufactures had increased to $6 81 per capita, and cotton manufactures with free cotton, had fallen to $3 83 per capita and these were the rapid growth of manufactures a corresponding reduction in the price of woolen goods

The reduced tariff of 1883 was disastrous both to the manufacturers and the farmers If wool were placed on the free list the farmers would be driven out of the wool growing business There would be lower duties on woolens which would close factories discharge operatives and force down wages in other employments that could be invaded

At last we have some common sense practical talk over an official signature about the disposal of the Indians Commissioner Morgan, realizing that the methods of civilization will fail to make a responsible citizen of the Indian so long as the policy of the government tends to maintain him an idleness and encourage him in discontent speaks out boldly and plainly upon the question in his annual report just published The absorption of the Indian into our nation if life not as an Indian but as an American citizen" is the ultimatum of the effort which civilization is making in his behalf, and that is a task that cannot be much longer deferred The demands of justice must be met in regard to the Indians and their lands Each one is entitled to his individual share in the tribal property but he is not entitled while living a useless life of vagabondism to a support from the government In the words of Commissioner Morgan, "the Indians must adjust themselves to their environment and conform their mode of living substantially to our civilization"

Reasonable time in which to do this and intelligent practical instruction relative to the proper and successful way in which to do it furnish the complete formula of Indian rights" of which specialists in philanthropy are so fond of prating. It is only in this way that a sense of personal responsibility without which all attempts at self support are vain, and a spirit of independence without which citizenship can only exist in name can be engendered and cultivated When Indians become home builders and individual property owners when they are sufficiently instructed in agricultural thrift and mechanical arts to earn their own living, and are impressed with the necessity of doing this with the means that civilization has placed within the reach this vexed question of what shall we do with the Indian? will be dropped from our political catechism

The more intelligent leaders among the Indians fully realize the situation and are quite ready to conform to the requirements of civilization The idea of Chief Joseph as reported in THE OREGONIAN yesterday are those of an intelligent man anxious that the remnant of his fast vanishing band may have hold upon this last hope of the race and in learning how to live according to the edict —in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread escape complete extermination

Dishonest, lazy and thriftless agents have been the curse of the government's Indian policy They have as a class, been prompt and active in but one thing and that has been in drawing their pay Since there is no way in which to teach agricultural thrift except by example and no way in which to inculcate idleness except through ways of inaction it is little wonder that men who were appointed Indian agents through the political necessity that has from time to time arisen for making place for incompetents have failed to inspire the Indians with any other feelings than those of discontent and distrust and in many cases hatred of the government

Captain Wilkinson who whatever he was no was energetic and was held in high zeal for civilizing Indians through industrial educational methods noted on a visit to the Indian reservation in Eastern Oregon whether he went some years ago in quest of ponies for the Indian school then located at Forest Grove, the fact that the house in which the agent (a worthy but incompetent man who had outlived his usefulness but not his official life) occupied was a reeling structure with decayed sills and sagging, doors, that it was without paint, and that rank weeds choked the dooryard up to the very edge of the dilapidated steps The example of this agent while not a vicious one was certainly one of inaction, and was as void of the elements of civilized home making as if he had sojourned among the Indians in a tent, or huddled over a fire in the center of a bark wigwam, from which the smoke escaped through a hole in the roof

Every one knows how thrift begets thrift among neighbors in a country district. How a coat of paint or a new dooryard fence at Brown's inspires Jones to smarten up his own premises, and how Smith catches the industrial contagion and takes measures to keep the chickens out of the front yard so that his wife's hollyhocks and peonies may have a chance to bloom There is an absolute infection in example of this kind, and when Indian agents are appointed with a view to their knowledge of the homely industries that wait upon civilization, and to their energy in imparting this knowledge to others by example as well as by precept, Chief Joseph, and such as he will no longer have cause to make manly and at the same time, pathetic plaint for their race, saying, "My people do not know how to work and there is no one to teach them or show them how"

Daniel Dougherty in his address at the Philadelphia centennial, said that in colonial times 'the only religious martyrs in America were Catholics They were spurned, slandered, vilified, and the highest honors of the republic denied them by a prejudice as strong as a constitutional enactment." It is true that the Puritan governors of Massachusetts Belcher and Talmadge, persecuted the Catholics but the Puritans persecuted the Quakers even to the extent of hanging some of them Anne Hutchinson and Mary Dyer were persecuted by the Puritans Roger Williams was driven into exile and Corey was pressed to death by the Puritans for refusing to testify There was nothing done to the Catholics in colonial days that was worse than these cruelties In later times a Catholic religious asylum was burned by a mob in Charleston, Mass, a foul deed, but not worse than the sacking of the home for colored children by the Catholic mob during the draft riots of 1863 The truth is that the bigotry ignorance and brutality in America has not been confined either to Protestant or Catholic circles. Abner Kneeland was mobbed and jailed in Boston for editing a deistical newspaper, Garrison was mobbed for publishing an anti slavery journal. Both in Europe and America bigotry, brutality, superstition and ignorance have committed awful crimes, and neither the Protestant nor Catholic church can show clean hands in this respect Where power and opportunity have been present persecution has done its work in both churches

Our dispatches yesterday announced the firing of several dramatic and operatic managers in Cincinnati for giving Sunday performances On the same day in Portland a prominent clothier was arrested for selling a coat to a stranger In Portland a stranger can buy a cocktail or a cigar on Sunday he can attend a concert or dramatic performance but he cannot buy a clean collar Sunday laws always sleep until some fellow uses them to wreak a private spite on the victim They are used as instruments of private vengeance or business rivalry A merchant whose religion" forbids him to sell goods on Sunday uses the Sunday law to mulct another merchant whose 'religion" does not forbid him to sell on Sunday. So we have the disgusting spectacle of a statute used as a mere club in the hands of selfish greed to bruise the head of a business rival Where does the "religion" come in under this enforcement of Sunday laws which assume that cocktails and cigars are necessities, while clean collars are 'luxuries" that it is improper to buy or sell on Sunday morning? It looks very much as if the Sunday law was like all obsolete laws, useful chiefly as an instrument of private spite or mercantile meanness Its methods are about as heroic as those of the grocers that tried to impose a license fee on the venders of vegetables, that would drive the poor devils out of business and their customers to the grocers

Stanley's last letter announces the discovery of a stream connecting Lake Albert Nyanza and a lake hitherto known as Muta Nzige, to which Stanley has given the name of Albert Edward Nyanza, thus locating definitely a second source of the White Nile corresponding to Lake Victoria Nyanza The Albert and the Victoria Nyanzas are connected by outlets with this third lake Albert Edward Nyanza That there is no connection between this third lake and Lake Tanganyika had already been proved by Livingstone, Cameron and Stanley, so that the sources of the Nile are now absolutely ascertained Speke in 1862 identified the Victoria Nyanza discovered in 1858, as one of the sources of the Nile The Albert Nyanza was discovered in 1864 by Sir Samuel Baker, who as late as 1873 asserted that it was one and the same with Lake Tanganyika Stanley in 1876 reached an arm of what he supposed to be the Albert Nyanza, but Captain Mason subsequently proved that this was an arm of a separate lake known as Muta Nzge Stanley has discovered the river connecting this third lake with Albert Nyanza and thus identified what he calls Albert Edward Nyanza as one of the sources of the Nile This swells the length of the Nile to between 4000 and 4900 miles making it the longest river in the world next to the Amazon

The crime nal element has become so bold and its acts of defiance so shameless in Seattle that citizens of that place deem it necessary to adopt unusual proceedings in order to get rid of or subdue its representatives The chief of police has for some days waged relentless warfare upon the dens of vice inhabited by prostitutes and their companions in crime, and auxiliary measures have been inaugurated by ministers and other citizens to aid in the work of breaking up these places and compelling their inmates and those who frequent them to decamp While we sympathize with Seattle we venture to hope that none of the gang will be headed this way Our police force as at present organized is in no condition to cope with exiles of this character

The senate and house of the Washington legislature do not seem to be working together Monday the house was ready to vote for senator though it lacked parliamentary knowledge of how to go about it while the senate insisted on waiting till the 19th Yesterday the senate wanted to take a recess till the 13th a majority of the house wanted to concur but its ignorance of parliamentary law enabled the minority to defeat it The result of it all is that the legislature remains in session, with little apparent disposition to do business The rest of the week will be practically wasted so far as legislative business is concerned but the time will be well spent in preparing for the inauguration of Governor Terry and in senatorial canvassing

Senator Sherman seldom speaks without reflection and his judgment, immediately after an interview with the president that some silver legislation is inevitable in the next session of congress is entitled to much weight Just what he means by his mysterious hints as to the attitude of the president cannot be guessed Taken in connection with the persistent claims of the silver people that the president and Secretary Windom have been partly converted to their views it is significant if not ominous

MCMINNVILLE Nov 12

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The following statement, occurring in Bishop Ryan's Baltimore address the other day is incorrect "The civil war split up all non Catholic denominations into Northern and Southern organizations."

I know that the Cumberland Presbyterian church remained one individual organization during the civil war and it is one organization to day.

At a meeting of the general assembly after the close of the war all differences growing out of the war were satisfactorily adjusted not by a compromise, but by deliberations so fully in harmony with the principles of the American Union that the most radical republican papers in the North gave them unqualified approval So there is one non Catholic denomination that no war did not split, and there may be others.

THE NEW LAW DEFECTIVE.

Work of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Secretary James Browne Says That They Are Handicapped in Their Efforts to Suppress Quackery.

A reporter yesterday called on Dr James Browne secretary of the State Medical Board to learn somethiug in regard to the operation of the law that gave this commission its existence

The law, creating a State Medical Board or more properly a board of medical examiners it will be remembered was enacted during the last session of the state legislature The law was passed on the 28th of May, but as it did not receive the signature of Governor Pennoyer it did not become operative until several months later The law therefore is still on trial as far as the public is concerned, although the members of the profession have long since found out just to what extent it is able to meet the ends for which it was designed.

The board is composed of Dr James Dickson president Dr O P S. Plummer treasurer, and Dr James Browne, secretary.

DR BROWNE TALKS.

"Really, said Dr Browne in reply to the reporter's query as to what the board had been doing since its appointment "we have very little to report that would directly interest the public We meet every Monday evening at 8 o'clock and remain in session from one to three hours We have considerable work to do, and a great deal to contend with in doing it Examining applicants for certificates entitling them to practice is not the principal part of our work I have been here at my desk nearly every day from morning until night attending to the extensive correspondence found necessary to establish the genuineness of diplomas

"We have rejected quite a number of diplomas presented for examination and generally the owners get art for other climes There is one thing that may be considered a matter of great fixation to us and that is the harmony and unanimity that attends our work We generally stand as a unit on all matters that come up for discussion

"Then do you consider the law satisfactory, and does it accomplish all that it intended it should" was asked.

I should say not" replied Dr Brown "While the law is better than no law at all it is decentive and we are no given the latitude and privilege in many respects to make our own by laws. The law empowers us to make our own by laws. This we have done through the aid and co-operation of a number of Indian physicians whose counsels we solicited, and we are governed largely by the ethics of the

AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

We not only have the right to refuse certificates, to those presenting unsatisfactory diplomas, but also to those guilty of unprofessional conduct, and it lies entirely with us to define unprofessional conduct and to specify what particular acts of omission or commission shall constitute it. Instead of the law dumping this on us it is left entirely to our discretion and in a unprofitious test case should we be called upon to prove what it is we would be thrown entirely upon our own resources The state could not aid us, and all that we could do would be to bring the pressure of public sentiment and custom and usage sanctioned by professional practitioners throughout the world, to bear on the case at issue.

THEY HAVE NO JURISDICTION

"Again, we have no jurisdiction over practitioners already in the field be they regulars in good standing or quacks. We have no right to expel them or to take their certificates from them be their conduct what it may The law exempted all practitioners residing in the state at the time it was passed providing they registered their names with the county clerk within sixty days We deal therefore exclusively with physicians coming from other states. We can determine their ability by examining them personally or their diplomas but as we know nothing of their professional standing we cannot refuse them certificates on other grounds than that of lack of ability By this the public can readily see where our work lies Only those who take the certificates of the board are amenable to its laws while those who are already in can do just about as they like as long as they commit no criminal act that would subject them to arrest They can be guilty of every misdemeanor classified under unprofessional conduct, and still our board could take no cognizance of them.

We do not deny that there are practitioners here to day, who would be denied a certificate by our board They are quacks and would be prosecuted were the law so framed as to regulate the practice of medicine within the state The law, however does not regulate the practice of medicine, within the state—only a very small part of it

It is generally recognized that the law is lame and defective, and all honorable practitioners are in hopes that it will be satisfactorily amended at the next session of the state legislature.

At the meeting of this board Monday night, eight diplomas were presented for examination

AMONG JUDGES, JURIES AND LAWYERS.

Drawn for Jury Service—Timber Depredations—State Court Matters—Judge Tanner's Leave—The Docket.

Judge Deady yesterday made an order directing that the jury commissioners and the clerk of the court select 5000 names of eligible taxpayers in various counties of the state, in proportion to their population, to be placed in the box from which juries for the United States court are to be drawn The law provides that juries shall not be drawn from a box containing less than 300 names. The present list was prepared in 1884, and through deaths, removals, etc., has been reduced to about 300 wherefore it was deemed advisable to have a new list made

A GOOD DAY'S WORK.

The grand jury, led by F B Smith, foreman, filed into Judge Sleeper's courtroom at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon They brought in indictments for ten men, who will be asked to plead this morning. Following are the specifications:

William Russell larceny from Dividend saloon October 12, of personal effects of A. Kennedy worth $30.

Ben Doering and William Russell, larceny in Peter Schramm's residence of a diamond pin opera glass etc, worth $17 on the night of November 3.

Thomas Young larceny from the person of William F Regadale, November 8 of $25 in money.

Sam Carter, larceny from the dwelling of A. E. Winslow of a baby carriage This is the negro Constable Keegan on whipped at Lafayette.

M Murphy, larceny of a pair of shoes from the Farmers' and Mechanics' store November 4.

Thomas Morran larceny from Mr F W Berry's commission store of $.00 worth of pencils, November 1

George Smith John Berry and Jerry Hazlewood, assault and robbery, November 3, of $40 from David Parsons

Charles McLaughlin, roughan, November 2, on the person of William G. Long

SUING FOR HIS FEE

The suit of James K Kelly vs E. A Jones and Carrie Jones, was on trial yesterday before Judge Shattuck The action is for $1000 attorney's fee Mrs. Jones seeks to show that judgment should not be entered against her because her husband was not her authorized agent. The fee was incurred during the well known timber land case before the United States supreme court.

HEATH WILL BE COUNCILMAN

The jury in the case whereby George W Heath sought to recover the office of councilman in the second ward of Albina came in yesterday morning Theodore Kraft had been declared elected but during the trial the facts were shown that at the election Heath received 52 votes and Kraft 38 but that four of the latter's votes were illegal The verdict accordingly was for Heath

HE CHANGED HIS PLEA

In the criminal court yesterday afternoon W J Johnson was to have been tried for an attempt to commit larceny in a dwelling. He glanced at the jury a moment and then requested to be allowed to plead guilty to simple larceny, which was granted and he was sentenced to two months imprisonment in the county jail.

TIMBER DEPREDATIONS.

United States District Attorney McArthur yesterday began suit in the United States circuit court against George H Hicks and Z H Davis to recover the value of 41 112 feet of lumber alleged to have been cut by defendants on public land in township 1s south, range 6 west.

HAD TO PAY FOR IT

Carl Nelson was arraigned yesterday before Justice Gentle for alleged trespass upon the grounds of James Rowland, lessee at Cline lake Williamette slough The defendant and his buxom wife made a very spirited defense but the fine was $5.

BECOMING CITIZENS.

George P Rogers and Herman F Blanchard both subjects to Queen Victoria filed their declaratory papers with the county clerk yesterday In Judge Stearns's court Edward Roe, a native of Norway, was admitted to citizenship

BOUND OVER

The colored man Campbell, who is mixed up in the barber shop imbroglio at 93 N First street was yesterday bound over in the sum of $100 to await the action of the grand jury

BEFORE JUDGE TANNER.

Heavy fines was the distinguishing feature of Judge Tanner's dealings with prisoners in the city police court yesterday

James Riley, John Clark, William Walsh, John Burke and Robert White, charged with being drunk were fined $10 each James Reddy and W S. Baker charged with the same breach of decorum got off with fines of $5 each, and Harry Lewis also charged with violating the drinking ordinance was sentenced to "step out."

Fred Horning and B. C Crook, charged with trespass, were fined $20 each, and Charles Smith was fined $20 for begging.

Tom Toy Sam, Ah Goldsman arrested by officer Lee F. Coleman, for prowling about a house in North Portland at an unseemly hour of the night was discharged, as there was no evidence to show that his intentions were to commit a burglary

James Kearney George Daly Frank Clark Joseph Kelly Henry Lerans William Walsh and John Curtis are the names of seven to six who sat in the police court yesterday for taking too many liberties in the old XXX saloon on North First street at an early hour yesterday morning They were all drunk and began to throw beer glasses around without any regard to consequences The proprietor was powerless to prevent them and after they had broken doors, windows mirrors and mottles they took their departure Officers Jones and Belcher with the assistance of the proprietor hunted them up and landed them all in the city jail Judge Tanner handed them rather severely as they all deserved to be James Kearney was held to await the action of the grand jury under bonds in the sum of $.00 on a charge of robbing one Thomas Morran Daly and Walsh were fined $100 each Clark and Kelly were fined $ 0 each, and Parsons and John Clark were fined $00 each Frank Wilson another member of the gang who lit out the officers when the others were being arrested was seen sitting in the secretaries lobby, and he too was placed under arrest before the close of the session He will have a hearing this afternoon

The cases of John Wangerman, Charles Newhouse and Henry Gessford charged with larceny, and J J Prescott and N G Robinson, charged with throwing dodgers upon the streets, were continued until this afternoon

JUST AS HARDY AS OTHER STOCK.

The Jersey Cattle Are Not Running Out in the State as Reported.

There were comparatively few Jersey cattle on exhibition at the fat stock show and a well known stock raiser on being asked the reason for many that the Jerseys were running out in this state giving as a reason that they were not hardy did not stand the climate well etc

A reporter who had been in this line in mind, on meeting Mr D Jones of Lafayette who is one of the largest dairymen of Jerseys in the state asked him if there was any foundation for the statement that they were not hardy He said he had never lost one of his Jerseys by sickness and never had a sick cow until he considered the Jersey one of the most hardy breeds of fine cattle and had determined to keep no other kind Mr Wells said who has had a herd of Jerseys for some time, says he has never heard of they were not hardy He says he can't help but think about that he could keep the run of his various herd of cattle, but he thought the Jerseys did as well here as any cattle

An Interesting Suit That Was Brought About a Horse.

School Statistics—A Big Real Estate Sale Reported—The Salvationists Were Expensive—Raising Money

The entire afternoon yesterday was occupied in Justice Bullock's court with the trial of a case wherein C. E. Nickley was plaintiff and John Redding defendant all the parties being from Fairview The courtroom was full of witnesses for both sides from that neighborhood It was a suit to recover possession of a horse and damages. About the last of October last season Nickley traded a horse and the latter desired to trade back when he found the horse he received was not the one he expected to get In the meantime the son traded the horse he had received from Redding to his father for another Redding went to Nickley and wanted a exchange the horses and offered to pay him to addition Failing in getting the horse in this way he went to Nickley's barn at night and without the knowledge of Mr Nickley took away the horse he had traded to the boy and left the one he had received from the boy in the barn Mr Nickle therefore commenced suit to make Redding stick to his trade and bring the horse back

The jury was out but a short time when a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff Mr Nickley the defendant to return the horse he took from the plaintiff's barn or $65, the value of the horse $5 damages and the costs

There was a large number of witnesses from out in the country, and they were compelled to travel ten and fifteen miles to reach their homes after dark last night

A GOOD WAY TO LOSE CUSTOM.

A Milkman Serving His Patrons of East Portland With Unwholesome Milk

A gentleman of East Portland called at the office of THE OREGONIAN last evening and made charges against a milkman who delivers milk in that city He said

For some time past the cows of a milkman who serves customers inside East Portland have been ill fed with what he calls beat discussions, it affects the entire udder and is characterized by a feverish condition of the udder and open sores on the teats

While afflicted with this disease the cows give a thick and offensive smelling milk, which is totally unfit for human consumption. Other dogs not eating it, but it would make a thoroughbred hog sick. The milkman uses water to refine the consistency of this nauseous and poisonous fluid, depending upon the latter to remove the strangling and repulsive sight and smell. He treats the diseased cows with carbolized vaseline

While he gets enough for selling the sour milk home it seems to the milk his customers are not entitled to honest treatment, else he would give them the facts thrown the milk away until his cows recovered and thereby make permanent and appreciative customers who would undoubtedly pay an extra price for his milk hereafter to show their appreciation of his honesty and his solicitude for their health.

THE NEW LAW DEFECTIVE.

Work of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Secretary James Browne Says That They Are Handicapped in Their Efforts to Suppress Quackery.

A reporter yesterday called on Dr. James Browne, secretary of the State Medical Board, to learn something in regard to the operation of the law that gave this commission its existence.

The law, creating a State Medical Board, or more properly a board of medical examiners, it will be remembered, was enacted during the last session of the state legislature. The law was passed on the 28th of May, but as it did not receive the signature of Governor Pennoyer, it did not become operative until several months later. The law therefore is still on trial as far as the public is concerned, although the members of the profession have long since found out just to what extent it is able to meet the ends for which it was designed.

The board is composed of Dr. James Dickson, president; Dr. O. P. S. Plummer, treasurer; and Dr. James Browne, secretary.

DR. BROWNE TALKS.

"Really," said Dr. Browne in reply to the reporter's query as to what the board had been doing since its appointment, "we have very little to report that would directly interest the public. We meet every Monday evening at 8 o'clock and remain in session from one to three hours. We have considerable work to do, and a great deal to contend with in doing it. Examining applicants for certificates entitling them to practice, is not the principal part of our work. I have been here at my desk nearly every day from morning until night attending to the extensive correspondence found necessary to establish the genuineness of diplomas.

"We have rejected quite a number of diplomas presented for examination and generally the owners depart for other climes. There is one thing that may be considered a matter of gratification to us, and that is the harmony and unanimity that attends our work. We generally stand as a unit on all matters that come up for discussion."

"Then do you consider the law satisfactory, and does it accomplish all that is intended it should?" was asked.

"I should say not," replied Dr. Brown. "While the law is better than no law at all, it is defective, and we are not given the latitude and jurisdiction usually vested in similar boards. The law empowers us to make our own by-laws. This we have done, through the aid and co-operation of a number of leading physicians, whose counsels we invited, and we are governed largely by the ethics of the

AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

We not only have the right to refuse certificates to those presenting unsatisfactory diplomas, but also to those guilty of unprofessional conduct, and it lies entirely with us to define unprofessional conduct and to specify what particular acts of omission or commission shall constitute it. Instead of the law defining this, it is left entirely to our discretion, and in a supposititious test case, should we be called upon to prove what it is, we would be thrown entirely upon our own resources. The state could not aid us, and all that we could do would be to bring the pressure of ethics, founded on custom and usage and sanctioned by professional practice now throughout the world, to bear on the case at issue.

THEY HAVE NO JURISDICTION.

"Again, we have no jurisdiction over practitioners already in the field, be they regulars in good standing or quacks. We have no right to expel them or to take their certificates from them, be their conduct what it may. The law exempted all practitioners residing in the state at the time it was passed, providing they registered their names with the county clerk within sixty days. We deal, therefore, exclusively with physicians coming from other states. We can determine their ability by examining them personally or their diplomas, but as we know nothing of their professional standing we cannot refuse their certificates on other grounds than that of lack of ability. By this the public can readily see where our work lies. Only those who take the certificates of the board are amenable to its laws, while those who are already 'in' can do just about as they like as long as they commit no criminal act that would subject them to arrest. They can be guilty of every malfeasance classified under unprofessional conduct, and still our board could take no cognizance of them.

"We do not deny that there are practitioners here to-day, who would be denied a certificate by our board. They are quacks and would be prosecuted were the law so framed as to regulate the practice of medicine within the state. The law, however, does not regulate the practice of medicine, within the state—only a very small part of it.

"It is generally recognized that the law is lame and defective, and all honorable practioners are in hopes that it will be satisfactorily amended at the next session of the state legislature."

At the meeting of this board Monday night, eight diplomas were presented for examination.

AMONG JUDGES, JURIES AND LAWYERS.

Drawn for Jury Service—Timber Depredations—State Court Matters—Judge Tanner's Leaves—The District.

Judge Deady yesterday made an order directing that five jury commissioners and the clerk of the court select 5000 names of eligible taxpayers in various counties of the state, in proportion to their population, to be placed in the box from which juries for the United States court are to be drawn. The law provides that juries shall not be drawn from a box containing less than 300 names. The present list was prepared in 1885, and through deaths, removals, etc., has been reduced to about 300, whereforo it was deemed advisable to have a new list made.

A GOOD DAY'S WORK.

The grand jury, led by F. S. Burbott, foreman, filed into Judge Sladen's courtroom at 2:00 yesterday afternoon. They brought in indictments for ten men, who will be asked to plead this morning. Following are the specifications:

William Hunicutt, larceny from dividend saloon, October 10, of personal effects of A. Kemiley worth $12.

Ben Doering and William Russell, larceny in Peter Schramm's residence of a diamond pin, opera glass, etc., worth $17, on the night of November 3.

Thomas Young, larceny from the person of William P. Ingsdale, November 8, of $5 in money.

Sam Carter, larceny from the dwelling of A. E. Hinslow of a baby carriage. This is the negro constable Keegan overhauled at Lafayette.

M. Murphy, larceny of a pair of shoes from the Parsons' and Mechanics' store November 4.

Thomas Moran, larceny from Mr. F. W. Berry's commission store of $250 worth of pencils, November 1.

George Smith, John Berry and Jerry Hasherood, assault and robbery, November 3, of $40 from David Parsons.

Charles McLaughlin, assyrtheus, November 2, on the person of William G. Long.

SUING FOR HIS FEES.

The suit of James K. Kelly vs. E. A. Jones and Carrie Jones, was on trial yesterday before Judge Shattuck. The claim is for $100 attorney's fee. Mrs. Jones seeks to show that judgment should not be entered against her because her husband was not her authorized agent. The fee was incurred during the well-known timber land case before the United States supreme court.

HEATH WILL BE COUNCILMAN.

The jury in the case whereby George W. Heath sought to recover the office of councilman in the second ward of Albina came in yesterday morning. Theodore Kraft had been declared elected, but during the trial the facts were shown that at the election Heath received 52 votes and Kraft 50, but that four of the latter's votes were illegal. The verdict accordingly was for Heath.

HE CHANGED HIS PLEA.

In the criminal court yesterday afternoon V. J. Johnson was taken back to for an attempt to commit larceny in a dwelling. He stunned at the jury a moment, and then requested to be allowed to plead guilty to simple larceny, which was granted, and he was sentenced to two months' confinement in the county jail.

TIMBER DEPREDATIONS.

United States District Attorney McArthur yesterday began suit in the United States circuit court against George Hinkle and Z. H. Davis to recover the value of 43,113 feet of lumber alleged to have been cut by defendants on public land in township 13 south, range 6 west.

HAD TO PAY FOR IT.

Carl Nelson was arraigned yesterday before Justice Cattle for alleged trespass upon the grounds of James Rowland, lessee at Cline lake, Williamette slough. The defendant and his buxom wife made a very spirited defense, but the fine was $5.

BECOMING CITIZENS.

George P. Rogers and Norman I. Blanchard, both subjects to Queen Victoria, filed their declaratory papers with the county clerk yesterday. In Judge Stearns's court Edward Hood, a native of Norway, was admitted to citizenship.

BOUND OVER.

The colored man Campbell, who is mixed up in the barber shop imbroglio, at 92 N. First street, was yesterday bound over in the sum of $100 to await the action of the grand jury.

BEFORE JUDGE TANNER.

Heavy fines was the distinguishing feature of Judge Tanner's dealings with prisoners in the city police court yesterday.

James Riley, John Clark, William Walsh, John Burk and Joseph White, charged with being drunk were fined $10 each. James Reddy and W. S. Baker, charged with the same breach of decorum, got off with fines of $5 each, and Harry Lewis also charged with violating the drinking ordinance was sentenced to "step out."

Fred Hargitz and H. C. Crook, charged with assaulting Pete Jones and each, and Charles Smith, disturbance by fighting.

Tum Toy Kem, the Chinaman arrested by officer E. J. Cleaver, for prowling about a house in North Portland at an unseemly hour of the night, was discharged, as there was no evidence to show that his intentions were to commit a burglary.

James Kearney, George Daly, Frank Clark, Joseph Kelly, Henry Parson, William Walsh and Job Clark are the names of seven roughs who sat in the police court yesterday for taking too many liberties in the old XXX saloon on North First street at an early hour yesterday morning. They were all drunk and began to throw beer glasses around without any regard to consequences. The proprietor was powerless to prevent them until after they had broken doors, windows, mirrors and bottles they took their departure. Officers James and Belcher, with the assistance of the proprietor, hunted them up and landed them all in the city jail. Judge Tanner handled them rather severely, as they all deserved to be. James Kearney was held to await the action of the grand jury under bonds in the sum of $500 on a charge of robbing one Thomas Moran; Daly and Walsh were fined $100 each, Clark and Kelly were fined $70 each, and Parsons and John Clark were fined $60 each. Frank Wilson, another member of the gang who eluded the officers when the others were being arrested, was seen sitting in the spectators' lobby, and he too, was pinced under arrest before the close of the session. He will have a hearing this afternoon.

The cases of John Wangerman, Charles Newhotny and Henry Gessford, charged with larceny, and J. J. Prescott and N. G. Robinson, charged with throwing dodgers upon the streets, were continued until this afternoon.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Were yesterday issued to Melvin G. Winstock and Judith McFarland, Evan P. Hughes and Ellen Blackburn.

NOT AS HARDY AS OTHER STOCK.

The Jersey Cattle Are Not Running Out in the State as Reported.

There were comparatively few Jersey cattle on exhibition at the Fat Stock show and a well-known stock raiser, on being asked the reason, intimated that the Jerseys were running out in this state, giving as a reason that they were not hardy, did not stand the climate well, etc.

A reporter, who had borne this statement in mind, on meeting Mr. D. Keenan, of Independence, who has one of the finest herds of Jerseys in the state, asked him if there was any foundation for the statement that they were not hardy. He said he had never lost one of his Jerseys by sickness, and never had a sickly calf on his ranch. He considered them one of the best breeds of all kinds of fine cattle, and had determined to keep no other kind. Mr. W. S. Ladd, who has had a herd of Jerseys for some time, says he never heard that they were not hardy. He does not say many things to think about that he could not keep the cattle of the various herds of cattle, but he thought the Jerseys did as well here as any cattle.

THE RAILROAD A CERTAINTY.

The Final Survey.

A telegram was received from Port Townsend this morning from a prominent gentleman there stating that a locating and final survey for a railroad over the division work is being made from Port Townsend to Hooker's Lake via Port Discovery bay, a distance of twenty-five miles, being the first division. The second division carries the road to the head of Hood's canal. This is the Port Townsend Southern railway, to be built by the Union Pacific, the work of construction for following on the heels of the permanent location of the line. There have been, as is always usual in such cases, other surveys of this route, and the present work is the final one, all the constructing outfits being at Port Townsend now. Now look out for some of the heaviest real estate deals in Port Townsend, with snug little fortunes following to all investors.

HAVE FAITH

And All Things Will Come to You.

Go to the Oregon Picture Frame Company, 108 Third street, Abington building and see a large picture of the beautiful cottage that is to be given away to the buyers of lots in the Third Portsle addition. Sale takes place at 2 o'clock P. M. Saturday next at the rooms of the Real Estate exchange, 128 First street. This is a rare opportunity to buy a desirable lot at your own price. The cottage and lot (which is 50 feet front by one hundred eighty-feet deep), is valued at $2500. Comfortable seats will be provided for the ladies.

THE DAY OF MIRACLES.

Jerusalem, as it appeared 1800 years ago, was the scene of great wars, great peoples and great miracles. History gives detailed descriptions of its rulers and its people, but the best illustration of this event of city can be seen at the "Temple Pavilion," corner of Washington and Third streets. Here is shown the city, all built in solid carvings, and miniature people moving through the streets as if living. This is no side show, with its fakes and noisy contingents, but a nicely fitted up place and conducted in a manner that places it in the front rank of popular resorts, and an exhibition that is of the highest order of excellence and refinement. You will enjoy a visit to "Jerusalem."

EAST BANK NEWS NOTES.

An Interesting Suit That Was Brought About a Horse.

School Statistics—A Big Real Estate Sale Reported—The Salvationists Were Expensive—Raising Money.

The entire afternoon yesterday was occupied in Justice Bullock's court with the trial of a case wherein C. R. Nickley was plaintiff and John Redding defendant, all the parties being from Fairview. The courtroom was full of witnesses for both sides from that neighborhood. It was a suit to recover possession of a horse and damages. About the last of October a son of Nickley traded Redding a horse, and the latter desired to trade back when he found the horse he received was not the one he expected to get. In the meantime the son traded the horse he had received from Redding to his father prior to another. Redding went to Nickley and wanted to exchange the horses, and offered to pay him $5 additional. Failing in getting the horse in this way, he went to Nickley's barn at night, and without the knowledge of Mr. Nickley, took away the horse he had traded to the boy and left the one he had received from the boy in the barn. Mr. Nickley, therefore, commenced suit to make Redding stick to his trade and bring the horse back.

The jury was out but a short time when a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff, Mr. Nickley, the defendant to return the horse he took from the plaintiff's barn, or $65, the value of the horse, $5 damages and the costs.

There was a large number of witnesses from out in the country, and they were compelled to travel ten and fifteen miles to reach their homes after dark last night.

THE SCHOOLS.

The public schools in this city, district 21, are in a flourishing condition and are growing rapidly. Next Friday, in the high school department, Central building, an interesting literary programme will be rendered. Also in other departments there will be exercises. There will be a teacher's meeting Friday afternoon in the Central school building.

Following is the report for the month ending November 8:

SCHOOLS.	Number Enrolled	Number Belonging	Average Attendance	Per cent of Attendance	Not absent nor Tardy	Tardiness	Visitors
North Central	333	297	271.9	97	167	14	21
Central	524	464	456	97.15	279	12	33

BIG REAL ESTATE SALE.

It was confidentially reported to the East Side man last night that the sale of an unimproved block in this city had been consummated for the sum of $30,000. This sale will appear in the abstract either this morning or to-morrow morning. Take this as a basis, how long will it be until East Portland values approach those in Portland, where similarly situated?

BIG BILLS.

Keeping the Salvationists and other tramps in the city jail cost the city nearly $60 last month. The ways and means committee has been authorized to advertise for bids for feeding city prisoners. In this way it should not cost more than 15 cents a meal to feed prisoners.

SPECIAL MEETING.

A special meeting of the board of fire delegates will be held this evening. It has been about two months since the board has held a meeting, and there is some important business to come up. The coming election of chief engineer will soon engross attention.

RAISING THE MONEY.

Judge Woodward reports that he has raised about $400 with which to lower the grades at certain points on Fifth street. There should not be much more delay.

A GOOD WAY TO LOSE CUSTOM.

A Milkman Serving His Patrons of East Portland With Unwholesome Milk.

A gentleman of East Portland called at the office of THE OREGONIAN last evening and made charges against a milkman who delivers milk in that city. He said:

"For some time past the cows of a milkman whose customers reside in East Portland have been afflicted with what he calls 'teat disease.' It affects the entire udder and is characterized by a feverish condition of the udder and open sores on the teats.

"While afflicted with this disease the cows give a thick and often stringy milk, which is totally unfit for human consumption. Neither dogs nor cats will eat it, and it would make a thoroughbred hog sick. The milkman uses water to reduce the consistency of this thick and poisonous fluid, depends upon the strainer to remove the stringiness, and peddles it out right along. He treats the diseased teats with carbolized vaseline.

"While he abstains from using the milk for home, he seems to think his customers are not entitled to honest treatment, else he would give them the facts, throw the milk away until his cows recovered, and thereby make permanent and appreciative customers who would undoubtedly pay an extra price for his milk hereafter, to show their appreciation of his honesty and his solicitude for their health."

A GRAND SUCCESS.

The Paradox Medicine Company, not satisfied with the big business they are doing at the corner of Third and Washington streets, have sent a company to Oregon City, and last night played to a packed house. They are in this county to stay and make the Paradox medicine a household remedies.

NOTICE.

The city of Salem will sell its bonds, amounting to $19,000, and is now ready to enter into contracts for the same.

Offers will be received up to November 20, 1889, upon the following conditions, to-wit:

First—A 6 per cent. interest bearing bond for 20 years at option of council, at the option of the city.

Second—A 6 per cent. interest bearing bond for 10 years.

Third—A 5 per cent. interest bearing bond for 20 years.

Fourth—A 4 per cent. interest bearing bond for 20 years.

Interest is to be payable semi-annually on the first of January and July of each year. Bids must state for the which amount and rate they will take bonds.

The city reserves the right to reject any or all bids received. By order of the council.

Salem, Or., October 8, 1889. E. E. COSS, Recorder.
